MARCH IS WOMEN'S HISTORY MONTH

WOMAN OF MEDICINE: KAREN DOTSON ALL OF US!

KAREN DOTSON is honored in WOMEN'S HISTORY MONTH, for she wants to make a difference for ALL OF US. And indeed, she does!

Figuratively and literally, KAREN DOTSON, Program Director for the All of Us Research Program at the Medical College of Wisconsin (MCW), has reaffirmed her purpose and her passion.

All of Us at MCW, in collaboration with partners throughout the state and country, is laying the groundwork for research that may help eliminate health disparities, particularly in black and brown communities.

Historically, black and brown communities have been under-represented in biomedical research and experience the greatest disparities in healthcare access and health outcomes.

KAREN DOTSON and her All of Us team at MCW want to lead the region in program enrollments from communities of color.

Born in Milwaukee, KAREN grew up with both loving parents and her family in the inner city of Milwaukee.

Her home life was characterized by healthy aspirations and a deep sensitivity to giving back to the community.

Family, church, school, community, and volunteerism were shared values in the Dotson household.

Sundays were, and continue to be, a time for church services and religious education for Karen: She is the First Lady of the New Life International Ministries, located at 2440 N. 35th Street, where her husband, Walter Owens, is the Senior Pastor. Pastor Owens hosts the weekly broadcast show "Focus 2020" on Radio 1340 AM and 98.7 FM at 2:30 p.m. every Thursday.

Medicine and education have played important roles in the Dotson family for generations: "It's in our DNA," KAREN notes.

Her mother worked as a skilled and loving nurse's aide for many years.

Her sister, Rose Dotson, is a medical physician specializing in neurology – one of just a handful of African Americans in the field in Wisconsin.

Her younger sister, Jackie, has written two books which includes an award-winning daily devotional and the second book on consecration and fasting.

She is acclaimed as an up-and-coming religious author. Jackie also works in the Atlanta medical community as a tenured professional.

KAREN DOTSON, our honoree, has a master's degree in health services administration from Cardinal Stritch University. She sought her position at the Medical College of Wisconsin after many years of working in the community and surrounding areas.

"I'd been working on various medical review panels for local and federal grants in different areas of medical services for many years," Program Director Dotson explained.

"And I was frustrated by the large number of people of color experiencing health disparities, not participating in health research and impacting the reports.

When I saw the opening for Program Director for the All of Us Research Program at the Medical College of Wisconsin, I thought, 'Here is an opportunity to be at the front end of education, of guiding people from the community into the future of medicine – for themselves, their heirs, and future generations.'" All of Us is the future today!

And Ms. DOTSON assures us that signing up is easy: "You can do most of it online at JoinAllofUs.org/Wisconsin.

When the online part is done, call our office at (414) 955-2689 to schedule an appointment to be measured and give bio-samples. When you're all done, you'll get a $25 gift card as a thank you."

So, what happens to everything the program collects? KAREN explains: "The information goes into a secure health research database managed by the National Institutes of Health (NIH).

Researchers may use it to conduct thousands of studies. What they learn might help target medicine to individuals, make it more precise, what we call 'precision medicine.' It's really cutting-edge."

She continues: "I believe that what we're doing, collecting all this information, and making it available for studies right here in Milwaukee, could help change the statistics for Black health outcomes.”

Karen’s passion comes through when talking about why she joined: “I wanted to be a part of All of Us because we are committed to Milwaukee!”

We are a knowledgeable and diverse team that brings personal, cultural, and professional experiences together. We have the shared goal of a healthier Milwaukee.”

We’ve grown up with sayings like, “Our health is our wealth” and “Take care of yourself, so you can take care of the others.”

We know the sayings well, but our statistics consistently reveal racial and ethnic disparities that must change.

Ms. DOTSON believes in the words of Maya Angelou: “When we know better, we do better.”

She shared the following example about how All of Us, and the advancements in precision medicine that could come of it, might help patients.

“Many patients come to their primary care doctors with high blood pressure. The doctor might start by prescribing a beta blocker.

“If that doesn’t get the desired result, the doctor might change it to something else, or add another medication on top of it.

“For a while, it’s trial and error until something works. Thankfully, 99% of patients eventually get something that achieves the desired results.”

“However,” she continues, “this is costly in time and money for both the patient and the healthcare system. Medicine that considers a patient’s unique DNA – that is, precision medicine – would reveal exactly what medication would work best for them. No more trial and error. And that’s the excitement in All of Us,” DOTSON beams.

KAREN DOTSON is a role model, known for her availability, good sense, and honest sensitivity. She applies her skills and knowledge freely and is committed to making a DIFFERENCE in the community. We are inspired by her dedication to ensuring inclusivity in science and advancing precision medicine through the All of Us Research Program in Milwaukee. WOMAN OF MEDICINE:

KAREN DOTSON is the face of All of Us as she works daily to improve HEALTH outcomes for ALL OF US.

We SALUTE YOU, KAREN DOTSON, WOMAN OF PRECISION MEDICINE for ALL OF US.

We’d like to extend a special thank you to Black Women 50+ Magazine for use of the photograph of Karen Dotson for this article.

MCJ: RECOVERY 2021 is a year-long theme as we seek to work together to strengthen one another, post-pandemic. We’d like to thank all of our Women’s History Month Honorees:

Reimagined County Board Health Committee Will Add a New Focus on Strategic Planning

Health equity, human needs and strategic planning will be the focus of a reimagined Milwaukee County Board committee, thanks to a newly-adopted (16-1, Weishan) ordinance change proposed by Chairwoman Marcelia Nicholson and co-sponsored by Supervisors Shawn Rolland, Joseph Czarnecki, Jason Haas, Ryan Clancy, Sequanna Taylor and Willie Johnson, Jr.

The newly formed Health Equity, Human Needs, and Strategic Planning Committee will enable the Board of Supervisors to provide better oversight of various departments and their work to implement the County's vision and strategic plan for achieving racial equity.

"Milwaukee County is committed to a bold vision of achieving racial equity and becoming the healthiest county in Wisconsin," said Chairwoman Nicholson.

"The newly formed Health Equity, Human Needs, and Strategic Planning Committee will enable the Board of Supervisors to provide better oversight of various departments and their work to implement the County's vision and strategic plan for achieving racial equity."

"These goals cannot be met without the direct engagement of the Board in strategic planning and focused oversight of what departments are doing to accomplish these goals.

The new committee is also the latest example of the Board's increased engagement in strategic planning.

In April 2019 Milwaukee County adopted a resolution from Chairwoman Nicholson that declared racism a public health crisis and began work on a plan to achieve racial and health equity.

In March 2020, the County Board passed an ordinance committing the county to identifying and addressing policies that widen racial disparities.

Then in October 2020, the County Board unanimously adopted an ordinance change requiring departments to demonstrate how their budget requests aligned with the county's strategic plan.

"This new committee will help define what success should look like in the short and long-term, where we should focus our resources, and how we can accelerate progress to become the healthiest county in Wisconsin," said Supervisor Rolland

According to the adopted resolution, the new focus on strategic planning "will ensure all County departments provide a unified approach to outlining their strategic plans that reflects how current policy, budget, and operational decisions of each department impacts County residents, while keep-

In Milwaukee County, less than 11% of the more than 270,000 administered COVID-19 vaccination doses have gone to Black residents, despite making up nearly 27% of the population.

As Northwestern Mutual continues to address racial disparities in its hometown, the company, through its Foundation, has partnered with the City of Milwaukee Health Department to launch mobile vaccination sites in the historically underserved Amani and Metcalfe Park neighborhoods. Since 2013, the company has taken a strategic approach to drive sustainable change in underrepresented Milwaukee neighborhoods.

To assure equitable distribution of the COVID-19 vaccine among Milwaukee's Black residents, the company will fund approximately 7,000 first and second doses of one of the approved vaccines.

The company has worked in close liaison with the City of Milwaukee to identify the Amani and Metcalfe Park neighborhoods as high-priority areas where residents have been most affected by the coronavirus and is convening leaders and organizations in the communities to educate, encourage and register residents for the vaccine.

Northwestern Mutual Collaborates with city to Bring COVID-19 Vaccinations to Underserved Neighborhoods

"Since the onset of the pandemic, the Black community has been disproportionately affected by the coronavirus," said Eric Christophersen, President, Northwestern Mutual Foundation. "

We are committed to increasing equitable access to the vaccine and removing obstacles for those in underserved communities, moving Milwaukee forward toward growth and recovery."

The vaccination clinics will be held at COA Youth & Family Centers (2320 W. Burleigh St.) and the Wisconsin Black Historical Society (2620 W Center St.).

Each location will host five first and second dose clinics, administering vaccinations to residents who meet state eligibility requirements beginning March 27.

Information on registering for vaccinations will be communicated directly to residents through the organizations leading resident engagement, Dominican Center and Metcalfe Park Community Bridges.

"As we work to bridge the vaccine disparities in Milwaukee, partnerships are vitally important.

The support from the Northwestern Mutual Foundation is a stride forward in advancing vaccine equity here," said Mayor Tom Barrett.

"Churches, community groups, healthcare providers, and government agencies all play important roles, and the Northwestern Mutual Foundation

Helping make the 11th Annual Girls' Day @ City Hall a success

Thursday, the 11th annual Girls' Day @ City Hall was held. The event was sponsored by the City of Milwaukee and Alderwoman Milele A. Coggs (and co-sponsored by Alderwoman Chantia Lewis, Alderwoman Nikiya Dodd, Alderwoman Marina Dimitrijevic and Alderwoman JoCasta Zamarripa) has been a success that is attributable to many outstanding participants, Alderwoman Coggs said.

The event, which included panel discussions and workshops in addition to opportunities for active engagement and involvement with several public service-oriented organizations and entities focused on young women and led by women, was made possible by committed panelists who generously shared their expertise and their time.

"A multifaceted event like Girls' Day requires the selfless participation of many leaders and experts, and I would like to offer my sincere thanks to each of our participants for helping make this year's Girls' Day an enriching experience," Alderwoman Coggs said.

Alderwoman Coggs wishes to thank all the elected officials and organizations that submitted videos and to also recognize each of today's Girls' Day @ City Hall participants:

FREE COVID VACCINES AVAILABLE AT ST. ANN CENTER NORTH CAMPUS

Bucyrus Campus Medical Clinic offers COVID-19 vaccines to the public

To address disparities in COVID-19 vaccination rates among vulnerable and minority communities, St. Ann Center for Intergenerational Care has opened its vaccination program to the public.

The center's Bucyrus Campus Medical Clinic, located at 2450 W. North Ave., is now scheduling appointments for free vaccinations.

St. Ann Center, an all-ages day care serving children, frail elders and adults with disabilities under one roof, is committed to helping its neighbors access the vaccine.

"Vaccination is a hugely important tool to help stop the pandemic," said Nicole Berg-Johnson, Family Nurse Practitioner at the medical clinic.

"We provide a convenient, safe and welcoming place to receive the vaccine and answer any questions people have about it.

It is key for people to understand the benefits of the COVID-19 vaccines and why they greatly outweigh mild potential side effects."

The clinic is currently distributing the Moderna vaccine.

Anyone age 16 or over living in 10 ZIP codes around the Bucyrus Campus are now eligible for vaccination.

Residents are eligible in the following ZIP codes: 53204, 53205, 53206, 53209, 53215, 53216, 53218, 53223, 53224 and 53233.

The Bucyrus Campus Medical Clinic, opened in 2016, is a full-service primary care clinic dedicated to meeting the health care needs of the Milwaukee community, and the north side, in particular.

Residents in this area have experienced some of the highest rates of COVID-19 and its most severe outcomes.

The Bucyrus Campus Medical Clinic provides primary care for people of all ages and is a member of the Wisconsin Association of Free and Charitable clinics.

Vaccinations will be given by appointment only.

Minors must be accompanied by an adult. To make an appointment, call 414-210-2430.

"We are very excited to be able to offer the vaccine to our neighbors who need a place they can trust and feel comfortable seeking medical care," said Sr. Edna Lonergan, St. Ann Center president. "COVID-19 has ravaged Milwaukee's north side. This is one important way we can fight back."

BLACK WOMEN’S ROUNDTABLE RELEASES EIGHTH ANNUAL POLICY REPORT ON BLACK WOMEN IN THE U.S.

‘Priorities, Policy and Power: Black Women Rebuilding Hope, Justice, Equity & Equality in a New Political, Racial and Social Justice Era ’

Washington, DC – The Black Women’s Roundtable (BWR), the women and girls empowerment and power-building arm of the National Coalition on Black Civic Participation (NCBCP), released its 8th Annual BWR Report on March 25th entitled “Priorities, Policy and Power: Black Women Rebuilding Hope, Justice, Equity & Equality in a New Political, Racial and Social Justice Era.”

This year's report continues BWR's groundbreaking series which each year provides in-depth analysis, insights, and policy-centered recommendations, all meant to illuminate the needs and conditions of Black women throughout the nation while also providing direction on how to improve the overall well-being of Black women and families across a wide array of issues.

The report includes an analysis of Black women's leadership and game-changing impact on the 2020 elections, ultimately leading to the first Black woman Vice President of the United States.

It shares perspectives on how the COVID19 Pandemic has uniquely impacted Black women's lives and the lives of those they love

As it has for the past eight years, the 2021 BWR Report provides an in-depth assessment of the challenges Black women face, as well as the triumphs. The topics covered in the report include:

- Black Women Owning Their Political Power & Rebuilding Hope
- Racial, Gender & Criminal Justice, Dismantling Systemic/Structural Racism
- Racial & Gender Justice, Equity & Equality in Education; Racial
- Gender & Economic Justice, Equity and Equality
- Racial, Gender & Health Justice, Equity and Access
- Saving Our Democracy & Building Black Political Power
- A Special Section on Sisters Telling Our Stories related to the COVID-19 Pandemic.

Melanie Campbell, President/CEO of the NCBCP and National Convener of the BWR, “Our 2021 BWR Report is focused on lifting up the issues and policy priorities that impact the lives of Black women, our families and communities.

“The contributors represent an intergenerational group of some of our nation’s most powerful Black women leaders and experts in their fields---who not only outline the problems facing Black women, but also share solutions and policies designed to address them at their core.

“The findings of this year’s

“The findings of this year’s report could not be any more timely. As we enter a new chapter in our nation’s history, we have an unprecedented opportunity to shape the health and wealth of our communities.” —Melanie Campbell, President/CEO of the NCBCP and National Convener of the BWR (pictured above) report could not be any more timely. As we enter a new chapter in our nation’s history, we have an unprecedented opportunity to shape the health and wealth of our communities.

“The Honorable Barbara Jordan once said ‘What the people want is simple. They want an America as Good as it’s promise.’ --The ideas and solutions laid out in this report are designed to deliver on that promise by recognizing our collective power to engage and shape the national agenda under the National Coalition on Black Civic Partication’s 45th Anniversary Theme---Rebuilding Hope, Justice and Equality and Equity. “ is a big part of the work that’s underway. I am grateful for the assistance.”

Supporting equal access to the COVID-19 vaccine builds on Northwestern Mutual’s ongoing neighborhoods-focused support through its Block by Block strategy, including more than eight years of partnerships and $26 million in grants to the Amani, Metcalfe Park and Muskego Way neighborhoods to improve housing, education and safety. Northwestern Mutual, through its Foundation, provides funding and support to create sustainable change in underserved Milwaukee neighborhoods in alignment with dedicated revitalization plans, which include the priority focus areas of health and wellness.

Throughout the past year, Northwestern Mutual has supported its partner organizations and communities nationwide to provide immediate relief in response to COVID-19, including essential services, critical supplies and PPE. To help neighborhood partners meet essential supply needs during the pandemic, the company provided $45,000 to the Dominican Center, Metcalfe Park Community Bridges and Milwaukee Christian Center.

“The Metcalfe Park and Amani communities have continuously experienced systemic inequities in access to healthcare, facing challenges that have only been heightened by the pandemic,” said Danell Cross, Executive Director, Metcalfe Park Community Bridges. “Prior to the creation of these sites, there were very few accessible options for our residents to receive the vaccine, or even find information about their options. We’re thankful for the collaboration of this group for connecting our residents with access to critical medical care during a time it is needed most.”

Beyond addressing disparities in vaccine access, Northwestern Mutual is committed to fighting racism and discrimination in all forms. In 2020, the company launched a dedicated task force, Sustained Action for Racial Equity, led by Chairman, President, and CEO John Schlifske, which takes a holistic look at actions that will have the greatest impact to drive sustainable change, both within the company and the community.

Northwestern Mutual’s Block by Block strategy is focused on enhancing the Amani, Metcalfe Park and Muskego Way communities with programs dedicated to safe neighborhoods, healthy and thriving youth, strong families and quality education. The company works closely with residents and community leaders in each of these neighborhoods to achieve concentrated positive outcomes.

Milwaukee Television and Radio Veteran, Cassandra McShepard, joins TMJ4

McShepard is very connected to Milwaukee and plays an active role in local charities and service organizations. She acted as spokesperson for The Wisconsin Alzheimer's Institute, was on the Wisconsin Alzheimer's Community Advisory Board from 2009 to 2017, and in 2010 she was presented with the “Care-giver of The Year Award” by the Wisconsin Alzheimer's Association. In addition, she has served on the board of directors for Milwaukee Health Services and received The Black Excellence Award for Extraordinary Achievement in 2018.

“We are thrilled to welcome Cassandra to TMJ4,” said TMJ4 News Director, Tim Vetscher. “As we’ve gotten to know each other, it is clear that she has a passion for people and for Milwaukee. We feel very lucky that she chose TMJ4.”

McShepard is equally enthusiastic about her new role and her new team. “I am honored to be joining the TMJ4 and Scripps team. I look forward to meeting the Milwaukee community where they are and bringing their stories to our viewers in a heartfelt and entertaining way.”

Look for Cassandra’s stories in the coming weeks on TMJ4 News.

Despite the pandemic, YOUR Milwaukee Community Journal, is still getting ads from companies and businesses considered "essential" such as food stores. SENIOR TRANSPORTATION ENGINEER

The Southeastern Wisconsin Regional Planning Commission (SEWRPC), the regional planning agency for the seven county greater Milwaukee area, has an immediate opening for a senior civil engineer with an interest in transportation and traffic engineering and planning.

The Commission also is the designated Metropolitan Planning Organization for the five urbanized areas within southeastern Wisconsin. The Commission is responsible for the preparation of a long-range land use and transportation plan and a short-range transportation improvement program.

The Commission staff is also frequently called upon to supplement local planning and staffs in the conduct of small feasibility and engineering studies.

Responsibilities include the preparation of traffic analyses, and transportation plans, supervision of junior staff, and assistance to local units of government in the areas of traffic impact and transportation planning studies.

The Commission is looking for a highly motivated individual interested in joining a diverse team of planners and engineers focused on ensuring that the Region is prepared to compete on a national and global scale economically while improving the quality of life for the Region's residents.

A minimum of 5 years of experience is required for the position along with a bachelor's degree in civil engineering, with an emphasis in transportation and/or traffic engineering, and the ability to effectively communicate orally and in writing. A master's degree and experience with transportation planning, traffic analysis software, such as Highway Capacity Software, CAD, Cube, and GIS is desirable.

Salary range is $50,00 to $75,000 depending upon education, experience, and placement with the organizational structure. Salary outside the range may be considered for highly qualified applicants.

Please submit a cover letter and resume by April 23, 2021, to Elizabeth Larsen, Director of Administration, SEWRPC, W239 N1812 Rockwood Dr., P.O. Box 1607, Waukesha, WI 53187. Phone: 262-547-6721, E-mail: elarsen@sewrpc.org Website: www.sewrpc.org
