The annual awards, sponsored by Johnson Controls, Ernst and Young, Target, and TCF Bank, invited local college-bound graduating high school seniors in Greater Milwaukee to apply.

Planning to attend Marquette University this fall, 18-year-old recipient Joshua Wilder received an email encouraging him to apply for the laptop program.

"Receiving the laptop is a blessing because many people do not have the technology to do their job or schoolwork. As a future computer engineering major, I can get a lot accomplished. I'm thankful for the Urban League," said the Riverside University High School graduate.

For the second year, due to COVID-19 restrictions, the ceremony was a two-day drive-through event—providing a 15-minute window for each winner and their family to celebrate the laptop recipient, meet MUL President and CEO Dr. Eve M. Hall and representatives from each sponsor. Students were chosen based on academic excellence, community service, leadership, character, and academic turnaround. Laptop recipients were accepted into various colleges around the country like the University of Wisconsin-Madison, Harvard University, Boston University, and several historically Black colleges and universities, such as Tennessee State University and Howard University. "I heard about [the Laptop Awards] through a program at my school," said 18-year-old Jenna Ramon. "Getting this laptop is going to help me prepare for college and I needed a new one, so I felt really happy when I won it."

Ramon graduated from Milwaukee High School of the Arts and plans to attend the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee this fall to study art education.

Milwaukee Urban League's laptop program has provided over 200 laptops to graduating high school seniors since 2016. Laptops are usually presented to selected students during the Youth Leadership Summit, a cornerstone MUL education program that promotes high school student leadership. The summit was cancelled this year due to the COVID-19 pandemic, but MUL is still committed to continue important programming for graduating high school students and hopes to resume the indoor ceremony in 2022.

People For's Right Wing Watch Releases New Report Detailing the Events of the January 6th Insurrection

WASHINGTON, DC — Today, on the six-month anniversary of the far right attack on the U.S. Capitol, People For the American Way's Right Wing Watch released a new report, "The Cops Who Joined The Insurrection: Racism, Authoritarianism and Violence," that examines the violent subculture that led to the January 6 insurrection, the participants, the planning and organizing before the events of that day, and the crimes of the active and retired law enforcement officers who took part in it.

The report also explores the relationship between police culture and some of the historical roots of the authoritarian mindset displayed in the insurrection, and the role of police unions in protecting and advancing that culture.

"On January 6 our democracy was attacked. Congresspeople took cover in fear of their lives.

"This was not a political protest, this was an effort to prevent Congress from affirming the will of the voters," said People For the American Way President Ben Jealous.

"History has shown that the best predictor of an eventual successful coup is a recently failed one.

"We cannot let this happen again. People must be held accountable and that means the whole enterprise must be thoroughly investigated."

"Among the more than 500 people charged with federal crimes by the Department of Justice for their participation in the siege, Right Wing Watch has been able to identify 15 law enforcement officers—some actively employed by law enforcement entities, and some retired," said Right Wing Watch Research Director Adele Stan in the report.

"They hail from a total of 12 states and departments as small as the police force of Rocky Mount, Virginia, to those as large as New York City's.

"While those who participate in or are complicit with such extremist groups may comprise a small percentage of law enforcement, they are especially dangerous because of their tactical knowledge, access to confidential information and the authority carried by those who wear the badge."

The "The Cops Who Joined The Insurrection: Racism, Authoritarianism and Violence," comes days after the House vote on Resolution 503 to establish a select committee to investigate the January 6 insurrection and stark warnings to Republicans from House Minority Leader Kevin McCarthy (R-Calif.) about accepting a position on the committee from House Speaker Nancy Pelosi.

Council approves HaRUNbee Walk/Run for Healthy Birth Outcomes as part of Bronzeville Week 2021

The Common Council recently recommended for approval legislation making the HaRUNbee Walk/Run for Healthy Birth Outcomes an official part of the 2021 Bronzeville Week (August 7 – August 14).

This year the event will be held both virtually and in person. The HaRUNbee Walk/Run is taking place on, Saturday, August 7th in person; participants can also complete the Walk/Run in their own neighborhood, or on self-designed routes from August 1 to August 7.

Common Council legislation, sponsored by Alderwoman Milele A. Coggs, makes the HaRUNbee Walk/Run an official part of the upcoming 10th annual Bronzeville Week. Original co-sponsors of the file are Alderwoman Nikiya Dodd, Alderman Khalif J. Rainey, Alderwoman Chantia Lewis, and Alderwoman JoCasta Zamarripa.

"The goal of the HaRUNbee Walk/Run is to raise awareness of infant mortality, and encourage collaborations within the greater Milwaukee area to reduce it," Alderwoman Coggs said.

In conjunction with Bronzeville Week, the National Coalition for Healthy Black Families has helped organize the HaRUNbee Walk/Run for Healthy Birth Outcomes.

Interested participants should go to <https://raceroster.com/events/2021/47639/harunbee-5k-walkrun-for-healthy-birth-outcomes> and sign up and see additional details.

PERSPECTIVES

WHITE FRAGILITY: The Essence of America's Fear of

CRITICAL RACE THEORY

GUEST OP/ED

By State Rep. LaKeshia N. Myers

A century ago, African American citizens of the Greenwood District of Tulsa, Oklahoma, had their community decimated within the span of eighteen hours.

Spurred by a rumor of alleged sexual assault of a white female by a Black teenager in an elevator, the Black neighborhood was under siege by a mob of whites fueled by jealousy and hate. Hours of unending gunfire, arson, looting, and physical violence emerged; while simultaneous dropping of turpentine bombs served as a horrific crescendo.

Among the ashes lay the bodies of Black men, women, and children who had been killed by a deputized white mob and bodies buried en masse in an unmarked grave. The assault on this community may have occurred one-hundred years ago, but its lasting effects have persisted in the hearts, minds, and economic livelihood of survivors and their families for the last five generations.

In last week's observance of this heinous event, President Joe Biden echoed the necessity of Americans taking inventory of the role race and race-based violence has played throughout American history.

He said, "We can't just choose to learn what we want to know and not what we should know. We should know the good, the bad, everything. That's what great nations do: They come to terms with their dark sides. And we're a great nation." race, racism, and society.

Originally coined by attorneys Kimberle Crenshaw and Derrick Bell in the 1980s, CRT's theoretical framework assuages that race, in and of itself, is a social construct derived as a tool of separation.

The four main tenets of the theory are based around the following premises:

- Racism is ordinary, not aberrational.
- Racism serves important purposes.
- Race and races are products of social thought and relations [and] categories that society invents, manipulates, or retires when convenient' (Delgado and Stefencic, 2001).
- Intersectionality: 'No person has a single, easily stated, unitary identity [...] everyone has potentially conflicting, overlapping identities, loyalties and allegiances' (Delgado and Stefencic, 2001).

The bills presented by Wisconsin legislators seeks to ignore historical truths, under the guise that teaching history and current events accurately would upset students and assault the sensibilities of Caucasian students. This is textbook white fragility—choosing to ignore facts because they make some individuals uncomfortable.

Under the proposed legislation, conversations regarding women's suffrage, the transatlantic slave trade, or the Indian Removal Act would be taboo, as they are detailed, factual accounts of history in which white Americans most often were the aggressor.

Therefore, instead of being thoroughly examined, it should instead be wiped away and banned from discussion—this is flawed logic.

As Americans, we must begin to tell the unadulterated truth of our country; its triumphs and deficits, as well as its defeats. As we continue to uncover truths about Tulsa and other racially motivated events that have occurred, we must do so with empathy, understanding, and a willingness to shed the biases we have acquired.

There is no monolithic American experience. Embracing the uniqueness of all Americans is the first step in changing the narrative surrounding race in our country.

WHEDA FOUNDATION OPENS 2021 HOUSING GRANT CYCLE

$1 million available for emergency and extremely low-income housing

MADISON – Organizations throughout Wisconsin that provide emergency shelter, transitional residences and extremely low-income housing are encouraged to apply for grants from the WHEDA Foundation.

Administered by the Wisconsin Housing and Economic Development Authority, the WHEDA Foundation grants improve housing for community members with complex challenges such as developmental disabilities, domestic abuse, incomes at or below 30 percent of the area median income, youth homelessness and chronic mental illness.

Grants of up to $50,000 are available in two categories, emergency/transitional housing and permanent housing.

"The WHEDA Foundation recognizes the need among community organizations for funds that support basic improvements in safe, affordable housing for people in desperate need of a place to live," said Joaquín Altoro, WHEDA CEO. "This year marks the 37th year the WHEDA Foundation has provided financial support to address these unmet housing needs in our communities.

As we look to strengthen our communities in their efforts to move beyond the challenges of COVID, we know the need is greater than ever."

A total of $1 million will be awarded for the 2021 cycle with awards to be announced in December.

The grants are for physical improvements such as rehabilitation, accessibility features and new construction. There is no minimum grant size.

Eligible applicants include nonprofit organizations or co-operatives organized under Chapters 181, 185, or 187 of the Wisconsin Statutes; community development, redevelopment and housing authorities; and local units of government, including Native American tribal authorities. Applications are due on Aug. 23, 2021.

Complete program details, eligibility requirements and application materials are available at <https://www.wheda.com/about-wheda/wheda-foundation/housing-grant-program/application>. For program inquiries, please contact John Vogt at WHEDA.Foundation@wheda.com.

The annual housing grant program competition is funded entirely by WHEDA operations and uses no state tax dollars.

Organizations receiving the grants include nonprofit agencies, local governments and tribal authorities serving low-income or disadvantaged populations including homeless people, runaways, youth in out-of-home placement, people with alcohol or drug dependencies, people in need of protective services, frail elderly residents and people living with HIV disease, among others.

During the 2020 grant cycle, 41 organizations received a total of $1,040,000 million to create or improve 845 beds or units.

Click here to see a complete list of the 2020 grant award recipients.

Since 1985, the WHEDA Foundation has issued 1,198 awards totaling more than $25,968,000 to housing providers across the state.

Established by WHEDA in 1983, the foundation is responsible for receiving and administering housing grant funds on behalf of WHEDA.

being free on July 18, and take the chance to learn about the impact Nelson Mandela has had, and continues to have, on us all."

Designed to educate, entertain, and inspire, this immersive and interactive exhibition features previously unseen film, photos, and the display of more than 150 historical artifacts and personal effects on loan from the Mandela family, museums, and archives worldwide.

As the Milwaukee Bucks continue their championship run on the hardwood, We Energies is getting in the game with an energy-efficient assist to customers.

Our game plan of six simple steps can help you come through in crunch time and see nothing but net savings on your energy bill.

1. Swat away the sun

You don't need to be the Greek Freak to block higher energy bills.

Use blinds or curtains to keep the sun from heating up your home during the day.

Not only will it keep you cooler, it also means your air conditioner won't need to run as much.

2. Run a thermostat pick-and-roll

Setting your thermostat to 78 degrees can help you stay cool while managing energy costs.

For a more effective play — and to save money — set it a few degrees higher when you're asleep or away from home.

3. Avoid a charging foul

Cellphones, computers and other electronics can steal energy even while they're turned off.

Shut down wasted power by plugging these devices into a smart power strip or unplugging them when they're not being used.

4. Use fans to create home-court advantage

Ceiling and standalone fans provide an efficient edge for your home, as they use less energy than an air conditioner.

Use fans to stay cool and comfortable without turning your thermostat down as temperatures go up.

5. Play lockdown defense on leaks

Use caulk or weather stripping to put a full-court press on gaps and cracks around windows, doors and siding.

These materials stop warm air from getting in and cool air from leaking outside your home.

6. Make a midrange play with the microwave

Microwaves and slow cookers are versatile options on game day.
