The Social Development Commission, more commonly known as 'SDC,' recently held an Open House tour at its North Avenue headquarters.

The Open House was also a Grand Opening event as SDC officials joined with Mayor Tom Barrett and others in cutting the red ribbon officially opening its new headquarters, at 1730 W. North Ave. Barrett praised the organization for its efforts keeping families afloat during the coronavirus pandemic.

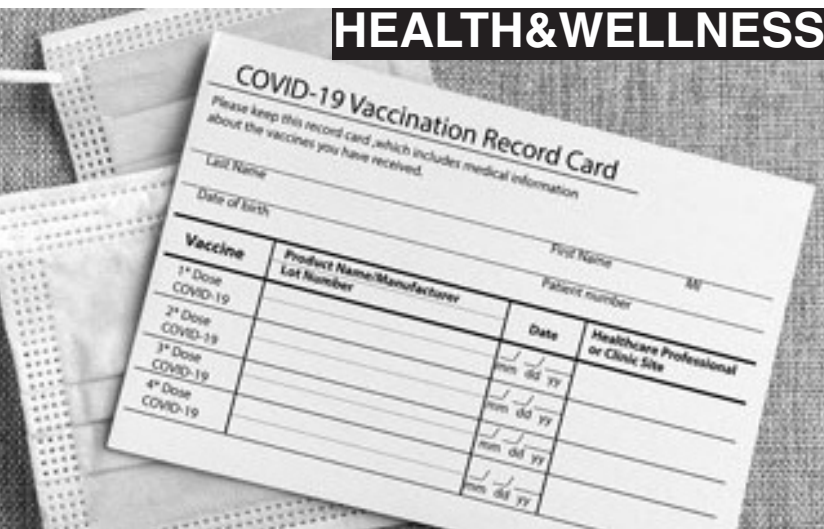

During the Open House, there was a raffle, and distribution of back-to-school supplies and food. In the above photo, Dr. George Hinton, chief executive officer at SDC, stands in front of the organization's offices. SDC will hold a second Open House tour at its Northwest site, located at 9155 N. 76th Street.

Biden Administration Set to Announce Third Covid Vaccine Dose for All Americans

Stacy M. Brown, NNPA
Newswire Senior National Correspondent
@StacyBrownMedia

A third shot in the arm is next in the desperate battle against COVID-19.

The Biden-Harris administration plans to announce that all who received vaccinations should get another one eight months later.

For those administered the Pfizer-BioNTech or Moderna shots, it means a third dose.

Individuals injected with the Johnson & Johnson dose will need a second vaccination.

Administration officials said the boosters could begin in September.

The U.S. Food and Drug Administration must first authorize the additional vaccine dose, but Biden-Harris officials believe authorization will occur.

Officials anticipate that nursing home residents, health care, and emergency workers will likely be first in line for the third shot.

Reportedly, the third shot is the same as the initial dose.

The decision for a third shot arrives as COVID cases have surged to pandemic highs.

With the delta variant raging, Florida, Mississippi, Hawaii, Oregon, and Louisiana recorded all-time highs for the average number of new COVID cases this week.

The Federal Emergency Management Agency said it was sending five mortuary trailers to San Antonio, Texas, as health officials expect the death toll to rise dramatically.

As Texas Gov. Greg Abbott continues his executive order that bans vaccine and mask mandates, the Lone Star

State has suffered.

According to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, Texas recorded 144 deaths on Saturday, August 14.

Family of Congressman John Lewis Continues His Legacy by Fighting for Voting Rights

By Stacy M. Brown,
NNPA Newswire Senior National Correspondent
@StacyBrownMedia

The late Congressman John Lewis, a Democrat, lived every moment of his life doing for others.

And, as the world knows, the Congressman gave every ounce of his time, energy, blood, sweat and tears, in fighting for all Americans to have the right to vote.

Family members of the renowned freedom fighter visited the nation's capital, hoping to meet with lawmakers to push two crucial pieces of legislation to blunt voter suppression efforts in many Republican-led states.

"When you see something unfair and unjust, you have a moral obligation to do something," Lewis' niece, Angela Lewis Warren, told NNPA Newswire.

Lewis Warren joined her uncles, Henry Grant Lewis and Samuel Lewis, on the trip to Washington.

The family said they wanted to continue the Congressman's legacy by pushing the "For The People Act" and the "John Lewis Voting Rights Advancement Act."

Both pieces of legislation have lingered in an evenly divided Senate, where Democrats like West Virginia's Joe Manchin have stubbornly refused to consider abolishing or bending filibuster rules to push the bills through.

"By any means necessary, they have got to get those bills passed," Samuel Lewis, the 8th of 10 children in the Lewis family.

Samuel Lewis, who served for 28 years in the U.S. military, forcefully opined that Democratic leadership should abolish the filibuster if needed to pass critical legislation.

"I think they should," he stated.

His brother, Henry Grant Lewis, agreed.

"Our dream is to keep the Congressman's dream and to move his legacy forward," Grant Lewis, a retired auto industry worker and the 9th of the 10 Lewis siblings asserted.

"That means getting up in the morning, putting on our boots, and catching a plane to Washington. Whatever the case may be."

Attorney Barbara Arnwine, the president and founder of the Transformative Justice Coalition, joined the family in Washington.

Arnwine, who also serves as co-chair and facilitator of the National Commission for Voter Justice and other voting rights organizations, noted the racist history of the filibuster and agreed that Democrats must act to either abolish it or amend the rules to pass key bills.

"The filibuster is a White supremacist notion," Arnwine declared, adding that it was created to suppress people of color.

With GOP-controlled states like Georgia, Florida, and Texas, making it difficult for people of color and other underserved communities to vote, the family believes Congressman Lewis would urge his party to protect what he believed a precious right.

According to the nonprofit Brennan Center, the For The People Act includes automatic voter registration and other steps to modernize U.S. elections.

It includes a federal guarantee of free and fair elections without voter suppression, coupled with a commitment to restore the full protections of the Voting Rights Act; small donor public financing to empower ordinary Americans instead of big donors (at no cost to taxpayers) and other critical campaign finance reforms; an end to partisan gerrymandering; and a much-needed overhaul of federal ethics rules.

Critically, the Act would thwart virtually every vote suppression bill currently pending in the states, Brennan Center officials declared.

"These reforms respond directly to Americans' desire for real solutions that ensure that each of us can have a voice in the decisions that govern our lives, as evidenced by their passage in many states, often by lopsided bipartisan margins," officials continued.

"They are especially critical for communities of color. Racial justice cannot be fully achieved without a system in which all Americans have the means to advocate for themselves and exercise political power."

If enacted, the John Lewis Voting Rights Advancement Act would help protect voters from racial discrimination and vote suppression.

"We are going to keep fighting," Henry Grant Lewis insisted. "One message that my brother would say is keeping the faith. Even though these current voter suppression laws have been put in place to deter us from going to the polls, we have to see what's most important and go to the polls."

"And we have to do that with even greater numbers the next election because of these laws. So we have to have a big turnout."

Both brothers and their niece spoke somberly of what they miss most about Congressman Lewis.

For Angela Lewis Warren, it was her uncle's desire and ability to never leave anyone out of a conversation or a greeting.

"His ability that he had to make you feel like you mattered. I don't care how crowded a room was or if he was talking to someone else. He could look in your eyes and make you feel like you're the only thing that mattered at that moment," Warren recalled.

"We knew that we mattered."

Third Covid Vaccine Dose for All Americans

The state continues to average 80 deaths each day, and hospital beds remain scarce.

More than 28 percent of hospital beds are occupied by Covid patients in Florida, while Louisiana's rate stands at 20.4 percent. Mississippi (18.7 percent), Hawaii (12.1 percent), and Oregon (11.4 percent) have rates above the 11 percent national average.

The New York Times reported that the number of hospitalized Covid patients has also risen in the Washington, D.C. area.

"Deaths have remained at about the same level, while the test positivity rate in Washington, D.C. is relatively low, suggesting that testing capacity is adequate for evaluating Covid-19 spread in the area," the newspaper noted.

D.C. currently has an average of 170 cases per day, a 114 percent increase from the average two weeks ago.

Currently, D.C. is at very high risk for unvaccinated people, the Times concluded.

On Monday, the nation realized 191,385 new Covid cases, 84,739 Covid-related hospitalizations, and 653 deaths.

"If you have plans for 2021 that involve a Covid-free celebration, cancel them," tweeted Dr. Ebony Hilton, co-founder and medical director at GoodStock Consulting and a critical care anesthesiologist at the University of Virginia.

"This goes for weddings, birthday parties, and holidays. We could have learned from the error of our ways in 2020 but instead carried them right on into 2021."
