Winning in Grand Fashion!

Milwaukee Brewers player Dan Vogelbach is about to get mobbed by his teammates at homeplate after he hit the game winning grand slam to beat the St. Louis Cardinals, 6 to 5 at American Family Field.

Milwaukee Brewers player Dan Vogelbach (pictured top photo) is now part of Brewers lore with his walk-off grand slam to snatch victory from the jaws of certain defeat, beating the arch-rival St. Louis Cardinals 6 to 5 at American Family Field (formerly Miller Park). Earlier, former Brewer start Rickie Weeks (pictured above left) participated in the 'Brewers Tap Takeover,' in which current and former players, and front office staff showing up throughout the ballpark to tend bar and interact with fans. Later that day, Weeks headed to the mound (pictured at right) to throw the ceremonial first pitch before the start of the 'thriller vs. Saint Louie.' —Photos by Yvonne Kemp Celebrities shared tributes to Michael K. Williams, the popular 54-year-old actor who was found dead in his Brooklyn apartment on Monday.

Filmmaker Spike Lee shared a photo of himself and Williams at a New York Knicks game on Instagram, where he wrote, "Whew Lawd, Dis Is A Tough Day—1st We Lose The Great French Actor JEAN PAUL BELMONDO And Now My Brother MICHAEL K. WILLIAMS. Our Brother Passed Away Today In His Home, Da People's Republic Of Brooklyn. I'm Shook."

Wendell Pierce who starred on The Wire with Williams, penned a thread about his friend on Twitter. "The depth of my love for this brother," he wrote, "can only be matched by the depth of my pain learning of his loss. A immensely talented man with the ability to give voice to the human condition portraying the lives of those whose humanity is seldom elevated until he sings their truth."

Isiah Whitlock Jr., another Williams co-star on The Wire, tweeted, "Shocked and saddened by the death of Michael K Williams."

One of the nicest brothers on the planet with the biggest heart. An amazing actor and soul. May you RIP. God bless."

The show's creator, David Simon, wrote on Twitter: "Too gutted right now to say all that ought to be said."

Michael was a fine man and a rare talent and on our journey together he always deserved the best words. And today those words won't come."

On Instagram, Mariah Carey shared several photos of herself with Williams, writing, "A beautiful soul, a beautiful person, I'll miss you always. Thank you for blessing us with your talent."

Academy Award winner Viola Davis shared some video imagery of Williams. "No! So sad." she tweeted. "Man do I wish this were a different ending. Rest well @BKBMG. Praying for your loved ones."

"Michael K Williams was a beautiful, passionate, expansive soul," actress Aisha Tyler shared on Twitter.

"I felt so lucky to have known him, and we were all so fortunate to have enjoyed his incredible talent."

"He burned so very bright. Rest in power, MKW. You will forever be The King."

“We are devastated to learn of the passing of Michael Kenneth Williams, an HBO family member for more than 20 years,” they wrote on Twitter. “While the world knew of his immense talents, we knew Michael as a dear friend. We send our deepest condolences to his family for this immeasurable loss.”

According to Associated Press, Williams was found dead Monday afternoon by family members in his Brooklyn penthouse, New York City police said. His death is being investigated as a possible drug overdose, and the medical examiner is determining the cause of death.

Half of Wisconsinites achieved the ‘perfect work/life balance’ in lockdown, poll reveals!

A lack of after-work drinking sessions has been great for people's health.

• Alaskans have gained the best work/life balance.

Lockdowns were certainly a shock to the system when they first started and required some readjusting, particularly for those who found themselves working from home (WFH).

Totally unprepared, millions of workers had to improvise by using ironing boards as desks, or hunching over low kitchen tables that would have triggered alarm bells if the occupational health consultants were present.

When it all started, many would have questioned whether they could ever be happy with their new setups - afterall, there were no ergonomic chairs, no conference rooms to retreat to for calls, and no in-house WeWork style cafes serving your favorite tall, non-fat latte with caramel drizzle.

But when it became clear that lockdowns were not just short term circuit breakers to defeat the virus, people did what they have been doing for centuries – they adapted and made the best out of their situation.

Gradually, the new WFH set up started to have its advantages – in came real plants (as opposed to the plastic ones in the office); mid-morning jogs around the neighborhood became routine; and the lack of after-work drinking sessions has turned out to be great for people’s health and time for other activities.

PRPioneer.com, the leading resource for public relations news, conducted a survey of 4,500 employees and found that nearly half (42%) of Wisconsinites say they have achieved the 'perfect work/life balance' (compared to a national average of 44%).

When broken down by state, this figure was highest in Alaska, where 70% of employees say they’ve found the perfect balance between work and personal life.

Comparatively, it seems those in Louisiana, New Hampshire and Rhode Island still seem to be struggling with Underneath the graphic, the dates "september 2-4 • 9-11 • 16-18" are listed, followed by the "AMERICAN FAMILY INSURANCE" logo. The name "Charlie Wilson" is prominently displayed in a large, bold, serif font. Below his name, it says "Friday, September 17th at Summerfest". Further down, it mentions "Upfront reserved seats available at Ticketmaster.com". At the bottom, there are logos for "BMO Harris Pavilion" and "Miller Lite".

Below the logo is a horizontal collage of five black and white photographs showing diverse people engaged in various recreational activities: a woman writing, a person on a bicycle, a person on a pommel horse, a person eating, and a person standing on a field. At the bottom of the advertisement, the text "MILWAUKEE RECREATION" is written in a bold, sans-serif font, followed by "FUN &amp; AFFORDABLE ACTIVITIES FOR EVERYONE!" and "¡ACTIVIDADES DIVERTIDAS Y ECONOMICOS PARA TODOS!". The website "mkerec.net" is listed at the very bottom.

iCare support expands COVID health education campaign to include transit ads

Helping boost COVID-19 vaccine confidence and trust in neighborhoods most impacted by the pandemic, Independent Care Health Plan (iCare) has funded bus advertising at a cost of $40,000 to encourage COVID vaccination in neighborhoods that have shown lagging COVID vaccination rates.

The “Authentic Voices” transit ads are expected to generate 8 to 10 million impressions from August through September 2021.

The Authentic Voices campaign was launched in April by Milwaukee’s Vaccine Integrated Communications Outreach and Mobilization (VICOM) group to increase vaccine acceptance and has been deployed through billboards, radio, print, television, social media and collateral distributed by community based organizations and mobilizers.

iCare’s funding expands the campaign to now include bus wrap advertising including the following routes:

- 12 – Teutonia/Hampton
- 19 – MLK to S13th/S20th
- 21 – North Avenue
- 22 – Center Street
- 30 – Sherman Park
- 57 – Walnut to Appleton
- 60 – Burleigh
- 80 – 6th Street
- The Redline – Capitol Drive

The Authentic Voices campaign features real Milwaukeeans, who proudly share their decision to be vaccinated against COVID-19.

It can be viewed at www.healthymke.com.

“Milwaukee is iCare’s home,” said iCare CEO/President Tony Mol-lica. “iCare and Humana want to proactively improve the health of the communities we serve.

Often that starts with awareness.

Transit advertising makes perfect sense because it allows for repeated exposure to positive COVID vaccine messaging delivered in the neighborhoods with the greatest need.”

Milwaukee’s Black and Hispanic communities carry the highest COVID disease burden and have lower vaccination rates than the general population.

According to the Milwaukee County COVID-19 Dashboard, as of July 29, 2021, the following compares individuals receiving one or more vaccine dose:

- White - 54%
- Hispanic - 41%
- Black - 30%

“Opinion research shows that for those who have not yet been vaccinated, but are in the ‘moveable middle,’ hearing from trusted messengers and community influencers is the most important factor in building vaccine confidence,” said Clare Rear- don, Organizational Advancement, Milwaukee Health Care Partnership and VICOM co-chair.

“The Authentic Voices bus wraps will help re- inforce the images and stories of community in- fluencers and will be a tre- mendous complement to the door-to-door vaccine education currently under- way with community mobi- lizers and the Milwaukee Health Department.

We are very grateful for iCare’s investment.”

National opinion research shows that many unvacci- nated American adults are still open to vaccine ‘wait- ing to see,’ or just indiffer- ent.

The transit ads and the Authentic Voices campaign in general intend to over- come mistrust and diminish indifference among this crucial population.

achieving this balance, with only 20% saying they’ve effec- tively done so.

So, what hobbies and activities have Wisconsinites been partaking in during lockdown? When asked, a quarter (25%) said they’ve spent time on home improvement and garden- ing, while 23% have been reading more.

Another 19% enjoyed cooking more and 17% spent qual- ity time with family, while 13% dedicated more hours to ex- ercising and 3% made the most out of having more time for a proper breakfast.

Furthermore, over a quarter said they’ve become more self-sufficient during lockdown, doing things they may have never done before like starting a herb garden, growing their own fruit and vegetables, baking from scratch and learning new DIY skills.

‘There’s no denying the difficulties brought on by lockdown but with the fast-paced nature of life as it was, there’s also no question that slowing things down has been beneficial for many of us as employees, parents, students and people in other walks of life,’ says Jamie Ellis for PRPioneer.com. ‘It’s refreshing to see that so many of us have taken these extra hours spent at home and translated it into using our time more mindfully and personally by doing enjoyable ac- tivities we never had the time for before.’

Disparities in opioid overdose deaths continue to worsen for Black people, study suggests!

NIH-supported study underscores the need for racially inclusive approach to address the opioid crisis in hard-hit areas

Non-Hispanic Black individuals in four U.S. states experienced a 38% increase in the rate of opioid overdose deaths from 2018 to 2019, while the rates for other race and ethnicity groups held steady or decreased, according to a new study by the National Institutes of Health published in the American Journal of Public Health. These alarming data are in line with other research documenting a widening of disparities in overdose deaths in Black communities in recent years, largely driven by heroin and illicit fentanyl. The research emphasizes the need for equitable, data-driven, community-based interventions that address these disparities.

The research was conducted as part of the HEALing Communities Study, which aims to significantly reduce opioid-related overdose deaths by helping communities implement evidence-based practices to treat opioid use disorder and reduce other harms associated with opioid use in New York, Massachusetts, Kentucky, and Ohio. It is the largest addiction implementation study ever conducted and is administered in partnership by NIH’s National Institute on Drug Abuse (NIDA) and the Substance Abuse and Mental Health Services Administration through the Helping to End Addiction Long-term Initiative, or NIH HEAL Initiative.

“We must explicitly examine and address how structural racism affects health and leads to drug use and overdose deaths,” said NIDA Director Nora D. Volkow, M.D. “Systemic racism fuels the opioid crisis, just as it contributes mightily to other areas of health disparities and inequity, especially for Black people. We must ensure that evidence-based interventions, tailored to communities, are able to cut through the economic and social factors that drive disparities in substance use and addiction, to reach all people in need of services.”

For this study, data were collected from death certificates for 2018 and 2019 across 67 communities with a total population of more than 8.3 million people in the four states participating in the HEALing Communities Study. The researchers calculated rates and trends of opioid overdose deaths overall and for each state, and then further analyzed trends by race and ethnicity (non-Hispanic White, non-Hispanic Black, Hispanic, other). Overall, the investigators observed no change in the opioid overdose death rate in these states from 2018 (38.3 deaths per 100,000 people) to 2019 (39.5 deaths per 100,000 people).

However, the researchers observed a 38% overall increase in the opioid overdose death rate for non-Hispanic Black individuals from 2018 to 2019, across these four states. There were no changes overall among the other racial and ethnic groups. Trends varied at the state level and increases among non-Hispanic Black individuals were highest in Kentucky (a 46% increase) and Ohio (a 45% increase). The investigators did not observe a significant increase in Massachusetts among non-Hispanic Black individuals. While opioid overdose death rates were unchanged for non-Hispanic Black individuals in New York, there was an 18% decline among non-Hispanic white individuals, suggesting that non-Hispanic Black individuals have not benefitted equally from prevention and treatment efforts.

The study authors note that these data add to the evidence of increasing disparities in opioid overdose deaths by race and ethnicity, and highlight the importance of access to timely, local data to inform effective community-tailored strategies to reduce these deaths. Numerous evidence-based prevention and treatment interventions exist for addressing the opioid overdose crisis, overdose education and naloxone distribution, medications for opioid use disorder, behavioral therapies, and recovery support services. Unfortunately, these interventions have largely failed to gain widespread implementation in community settings including addiction treatment, general medical care, social support services, schools, and the justice system.

To address this challenge, the HEALing Communities Study is working with local, state, and federal partners to gain access to data on opioid-related overdose fatalities, treatment, and other related health concerns in a timelier fashion and include important demographic information including race and ethnicity. Early access to these data was instrumental in informing HEALing Communities Study intervention planning, including discussions ensuring evidence-based practices are equitably available to all racial and ethnic groups. For example, these data informed partnerships with Black community organizations to improve access to overdose education and naloxone distribution.

While the data presented here were critical in shaping public health response, the timeliness of data about drug use, addiction, and overdose is an ongoing challenge. National and state data are typically collected annually, access to the data is limited, and data may not be available for months. Health data related to race and ethnicity may be limited or completely unavailable, and mortality data are particularly lagged due to the time required for toxicology testing.

“The more local and timely data communities have access to, the more tailored their approach can be for interventions,” said lead author Marc Larochelle, M.D., M.P.H., a general internal medicine physician at Boston Medical Center and assistant professor of medicine at Boston University School of Medicine. “We know there are disparities in implementation of effective strategies for reducing opioid overdose deaths, but early access to better data like these allows communities to address equity with improved intentionality.”

The Helping to End Addiction Long-term Initiative and NIH HEAL Initiative are registered service marks of the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services.

In Re: The marriage of Petitioner:
PATRICIA MADRIGAL VILLA-
GOMEZ and FRANCISCO J ESPI-NOZA CARLON

THE STATE OF WISCONSIN, TO
THE PERSON NAMED ABOVE
AS RESPONDENT:
You are notified that the petitioner named above has filed a Petition for divorce or legal separation against you.

You must respond with a written demand for a copy of the Petition within 40 days from the day after the first day of publication.

The demand must be sent or delivered to the court at: Clerk of Court, Milwaukee County Courthouse 901 N 9th St Milwaukee WI 53233 and to PATRICIA MADRIGAL VILLA-GOMEZ 2543 S 6th ST Milwaukee
WI 53215

It is recommended, but not required that you have an attorney help or represent you.

If you do not demand a copy of the Petition within 40 days, the court may grant judgment against you for the award of money or other legal action requested in the Petition, and you may lose your right to object to anything that is or may be incorrect in the Petition.

A judgment may be enforced as provided by law. A judgment awarding money may become a lien against any real estate you own now or in the future and may also be enforced by garnishment or seizure of property.

You are further notified that if the parties to this action have minor children, violation of 948.31 Wis.
Stats., (Interference with custody by parent or others) is punishable by fines and/or imprisonment:

If you and the petitioner have minor children, documents setting forth the percentage standard for child support established by the department under 49.22(9), Wis. Stats., and the factors that a court may consider for modification of that standard under 767.511 (1m). Wis Stats. are available upon your request from the Clerk of Court.

You are notified of the availability of information from the Circuit Court Commissioner as set forth in 767.105 WIs.Stats.

767.105 Information from Circuit Court Commissioner.

(2) Upon the request of a party to an action affecting the family, including a revision of judgment or order under sec. 767.59 or 767.451:
(a) The Circuit Court Commissioner shall, with or without charge, provide the party with written information on the following, as appropriate to the action commenced:
1. The procedure for obtaining a judgment or order in the action.
2. The major issues usually addressed in such an action.
3. Community resources and family court counseling services available to assist the parties.
4. The procedure for setting, modifying, and enforcing child support awards, or modifying and enforcing legal custody or physical placement judgments or orders.
(b) The Circuit Court Commissioner shall provide a party, for inspection or purchase, with a copy of the statutory provisions in this chapter generally pertinent to the action.
