"TAKING CARE OF BUSINESS!"

NO Studios hosts Book Release Party for community thought leader and healthcare advocate Erickajoy Daniels' debut book, "Taking Care of Business While My Husband is at the Gate."

Erickajoy Daniels, wife, mother, distinguished Diversity & Inclusion thought leader, and tireless community healthcare advocate has added another title to her 'CV' (Curriculum Vitae): 'published author.' Recently, a sold-out crowd joined 'Author Daniels' at NO Studios joined Daniels in beginning a journey of enlightenment and guidance from a biblical perspective with the release of her new book, "Taking Care of Business While My Husband is at the Gate."

"The book is birthed out of a passion to share transparency," remarked Daniels. "Taking Care of Business While My Husband is at the Gate" is meant to be interactive in inviting women to embark upon a journey to be the best they can be.

"Sharing practical examples and honest reflection allows the reader to explore their personal understanding of a woman's role in marriage to a man who is a servant leader in his own right."

Erickajoy Daniels is widely recognized as a community thought leader and activist as Chief Diversity, Equity and Inclusion officer and Senior VP for Advocate Aurora Health. She is also a Church of God In Christ (COGIC) district missionary and a leading voice in Milwaukee's most prominent corporate circles including board appointments with TEMPO, Penfield Children's Center, and Mount Mary University. —Photos by Yvonne Kemp Halloween Trunk or Treat party held by Lindsay Heights!

Lindsay Heights held its third annual 'Halloween Trunk or Treat' event recently. It was an old fashioned Halloween party with costumes, candy (of course), food, prizes, and a live DJ. Bread of Healing clinic was in attendance offering COVID-19 vaccines and Flu shots as well The Benedict Center-Sisters Program sharing information about resources available to women in the community. The event was coordinated by Emonia Barnett (who does this annually) and four local youth from the Lindsay Heights neighborhood. —Photos by Yvonne Kemp

Are You ‘Aged Out’ Of Owning A Business? Think Again: Why Now May Be Your Time

Two drivers behind “The Great Resignation” have been unhappiness and boldness — people thinking they can find a more fulfilling job at a different company, or a new career altogether, and then going for it.

One example is the surge in new entrepreneurs. The pandemic has brought out a record number of them. And a high percentage of those who recently quit their jobs say they’re planning to start their own business.

Yet others who consider being their own boss hesitate, and one reason is age. Are they too old, or too young and inexperienced, to start and run a new business or buy and operate an existing company?

These are valid questions, but the current economic climate is favorable for entrepreneurship no matter one’s age, says Stuart Robles (www.briggscapital.com), co-author of The New World of Entrepreneurship: Insiders’ Guide to Buying and Selling Your Own Business in the Digital Age.

“With the great economic reset from the pandemic working its way through the American economic system, there have been many losers and some big winners along the way,” Robles says. “But the biggest winners will be those individuals who step into the entrepreneurial ring in 2022.

“This includes hard-working Americans in the middle. Now is their time. There are historic opportunities for those poised to start a business or become partners in one. Tremendous amounts of money are available — in venture capital and other investment vehicles. Chaos has created disruption and new niches for businesses. The markets are overheated and returns are unpredictable with interest rates rising next year. So a great place folks can put their money is in private businesses.”

Robles cautions, however, that historically failure rates for new businesses are high, and learning how to navigate the sometimes rough waters is essential to success. He offers these tips for first-time entrepreneurs:

Bring the bucks to match your boldness. Without sufficient growth capital, promising plans for start-ups or initiatives for existing companies die on the launching pad. “Many first-time buyers or start-up entrepreneurs do not consider the follow-on cash needed to propel the business,” Robles says. “A start-up needs a long runway to profitability because it has no existing sales. You must examine your reserves, understand your limitations, and avoid signing up for debt you cannot pay back.”

Be sly like a fox. Robles says the best start-up operators are “the slyest foxes in the forest,” attracting executives of influence in the sector and trolling through their connections. “These are absolutely key undertakings in your quest,” he says. “The experienced players involved in start-ups admire those founders who whittle and cajole others to do their bidding for no apparent up-front compensation.”

Be ready for long hours. The pace, demands, and hours required of a business owner necessitate honest self-reflection before taking the leap, Robles says. “You really have to critique yourself physically for the rigors ahead,” he says. “We often recommend a physical exam before an acquisition to fully evaluate your health. Find time to get away and exercise. And having a smooth life on the home front, with no static

COVID-19 vaccine now available for everyone 5 years of age and older

On Tuesday evening, the U.S. Centers for Disease Control and Prevention officially signed off on approval for children ages 5-11 to begin receiving the Pfizer-BioNTech COVID-19 vaccine.

Recently, the Wisconsin Department of Health Services provided the final green light and the vaccine is now available to those 5 years of age and older at Milwaukee Health Department vaccination sites. Alderwoman Marina Dimitrijevic is delighted by the news and is encouraging families citywide to take advantage of this development.

"As a mother I know just how important this vaccination approval is to families with young children, and I would urge all of those with children 5 to 11 years of age to take the important step of getting them vaccinated to provide protection for themselves, families and our community," Ald. Dimitrijevic said.

"Vaccination remains our most powerful tool in terms of combating this virus, and I'm hopeful that with this latest news we can take one more step toward a post-pandemic world."

Vaccines are now available without appointment for everyone 5 years of age and older at this Central City site:

Northwest Health Center, 7630 W. Mill Rd.

Mondays & Fridays:
9 a.m. - 3 p.m.

Tuesdays & Thursdays: 12 - 6 p.m.

Saturdays: 9 a.m. - 1 p.m.

for your long absences, is a must for longevity."

Be a storyteller. Robles says the message you convey about your business should combine passion and uniqueness so it connects with people.

"Learn to turn your dull widget into a fascinating oracle of the industry," Robles says. "Show the fire and enthusiasm that will be welcomed by the established players. They can cut years off your learning curve and provide contacts and vendors that you would stumble past in your ignorance."

Don't give away too much too soon on social media. Announcing to the world your intentions right out of the gate is not a good idea, Robles says, because rivals will intervene. "Better to let them eye you with wary but benign interest and not try to block you before you've hardly advanced the ball," Robles says.

"Until your strategy starts impacting the marketplace, keep your plans to yourself and your key players."

"Social media posts and press releases pushed through paid wire services are most often read by your competitors rather than your customers."

"Every seven to 10 years, America faces an economic crisis, but these jolts set the stage for innovation and profits for new entrepreneurs," Robles says. "Now is one of those times."

MATC, Carthage College, UW-Parkside and UW-Milwaukee Receive National Recognition for Partnering for Student Success

Education company EAB has named Milwaukee Area Technical College, Carthage College, the University of Wisconsin-Parkside and the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee as winners of its national CONNECTEDness Award. The four institutions represent EAB’s Milwaukee-Kenosha Moon Shot for Equity Region.

Moon Shot for Equity is a national initiative that aims to close equity gaps within regional cohorts of two- and four-year colleges and universities by 2030. All participating institutions work together and with EAB to help more historically underserved students graduate from college.

EAB’s CONNECTEDness Award recognizes schools that build relationships across institution types, connecting community colleges, four-year schools, and the broader higher education community by forging connections in strategic and innovative ways to benefit students regardless of their institution.

This is the eighth year that EAB has recognized outstanding achievements by colleges and universities. Awardees are chosen from among the colleges, universities, and individuals that use Navigate, EAB’s student success management system, or Starfish, the student success platform EAB acquired earlier this year.

“Students, faculty and campus staff are still learning how to access and deliver the right combination of online and in-person support services that are critical to student success,” said EAB President of Technology, Scott Schirmeier. “The winners of EAB’s 2021 CONNECTEDness Award have gone above and beyond in their mission to keep students on track to graduate at a time when the pandemic has completely upended the traditional student support model.”

“On behalf of our four Milwaukee-Kenosha Moon Shot for Equity colleges and universities, we are grateful and proud to receive this award,” said Dr. Vicki J. Martin, MATC president.

“Eliminating equity gaps in the next 10 years is an economic, social, educational and moral imperative for our students, communities and our region.

“We are dedicated to ensuring that all students have the opportunity to transform their lives and livelihoods through access to educational excellence.”

The awards were presented at CONNECTED21, a three-day virtual gathering of thousands of student success leaders from progressive community colleges as well as four-year colleges and universities.
