NAACP Ozaukee - Women’s History Month “Break The Bias” Virtual Event

Celebrate Women’s History Month with the NAACP of Ozaukee County! On Wednesday, March 16th at 6PM, the Branch will host a virtual panel discussion with three amazing leaders who are working to “Break the Bias” in their workplaces and communities. The month of March was first designated in the United States as “Women’s History Month” in 1987.

The event’s theme of “Break the Bias” aligns with the 2022 International Women’s Day campaign, which encourages everyone to: “Imagine a gender equal world. A world free of bias, stereotypes, and discrimination. A world that is diverse, equitable, and inclusive. A world where difference is valued and celebrated.”

The Branch’s event is being hosted by the Women In the NAACP (“WIN”) Committee, and the three panelists are: Michelle Y. Blakely, PhD, President of Aurora Medical Center in Grafton; Leana Nakielski, Community and Social Impact Director for American Family Insurance; and Lauren Feaster, CEO of Professional Dimensions of Milwaukee. This is a free event and open to the public.

Thanks to our amazing sponsors, US Bank and Aurora Health Care, the event is free! Register and learn more about the event at naacpozaukee.org. Please contact the NAACP of Ozaukee County at naacpoz@naacpozaukee.org with any questions.

a culture of wellness for themselves and their families that enhances their overall quality of life.

Russell will play a major role in growing these and other efforts as the organization extends its reach to more women across Dane County and Wisconsin.

"I am honored to be part of a team that truly recognizes the priority of self-care, in order to selflessly pour into the community with such passion and dedication", says Russell. I'm excited to pull from my background in Corporate Wellness and Health Promotion, and root those skills into the community health space to support the work of this powerful organization."

Since its inception a decade ago, the Foundation has engaged thousands of women in its wellness programming which, until recent years, was largely organized and led by its founder with the support of volunteer Wellness Ambassadors. Founder, CEO & President Lisa Peyton-Caire says the addition of Mrs. Russell to the team will triple its programming reach, and increase the organization's capacity to refine and grow its offerings for greatest impact.

"We're excited to grow to the place where we can now dedicate a full-time role to leading our health and wellness programming which truly sits at the core of our work to support Black women to transform their health right now", says Peyton-Caire. It's where our work began, and the most effective pathway we have to helping women save and secure their lives today as we work on other fronts to address long-term health equity. We're thrilled to have a capable and experienced leader in Christine to help take our efforts to the next level."

Established in 2012, the Foundation celebrates its 10th anniversary this year. To learn more, visit www.ffbww.org.

Indaba African Ball Tickets Going Fast

A few tickets remain available for the Indaba African Ball fundraiser on Saturday, March 26, but St. Ann Center Special Events Director Gloria Miller advises all interested in attending to buy them soon.

The third annual event will take place from 5:30 to 9 p.m. at the Bucyrus Campus of St. Ann Center for Intergenerational Care, 2450 W. North Ave.

It will include African and Caribbean-style hors d'oeuvres, live music, a photo booth, and an informal fashion show for all guests who wear African or African-inspired attire.

Seven local community leaders will be inducted into the Hall of History Makers, as well.

Money raised at the Ball supports Indaba Nights, the weekly summer series that brings free family-friendly entertainment to the Indaba Band Shell for the neighborhood.

The band shell is located on the grounds behind St. Ann Center.

Taking place amid the African-themed décor of the spacious, two-story atrium of the Bucyrus Campus, the ball features entertainment by award-winning saxophonist Chris Pipkins, with his band, Christopher's Project; and the Milwaukee Youth Symphony Orchestra Steel Pan Drum Ensemble. A local vendor will sell African clothing, jewelry. Also available for sale: Dominican Republic inspired bath and body products from Aloekui Handmade Soap, and jewelry designed and made by Sr Edna Lonergan, St. Ann Center's founder and president.

Tickets are $65 per person, sold at StAnnCenter.org/IndabaBall. Masks and proof of vaccination will be required for all attending, as St. Ann Center provides care daily for children as well as for frail elders, those with dementia and adults with disabilities. The Ball was rescheduled from its original date in early February. For more information, contact Miller at (414) 210-2428 or gmillier@stanncenter.org.

Being honored this year in the Hall of History Makers will be:

- Ferne Yangyeite Caulker, founder of the Ko-Thi Dance Company, Wisconsin's oldest African American arts organization and professor emerita at the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee's Peck School for the Arts.

- Dr. Ken Harris, Justice and Public Policy Department Chair at Concordia University; retired Milwaukee Police lieutenant; chief strategist of Talented Strategies, a personal development company; and radio host on Milwaukee's WKGB-FM, The Truth.
