

WEEKEND EDITION

VOL. XXXVIII NO.48 APRIL 15, 2022 50 CENTS

BULK RATE U.S. POSTAGE MILWAUKEE, WISCONSIN PERMIT 4668

For many Christians, this week begins Holy Week. It is a time of deep reflection and remembering Christ's Stations of the Cross, His Crucifixion, or death, and His Resurrection. The JOY of Easter!

We have been participating in Lent, the season of alms-giving, sacrifice and reading about the miracles Jesus performed, for almost 40 days. These miracles were the undoing of Pontus Pilate, the Roman governor of Jerusalem, who loathed anyone who appeared to be getting more attention, more honor and more respect than he.

Scripture had forecast a Messiah for many years and prophets were ultimately rejected as the promised Messiah. Jesus, born of humble birth, yet true to Scripture, was a carpenter's son. As he began preaching and teaching in the temple and disciples who followed him began to speak of a new life, life eternal, Pilate became more anxious about this man called Jesus.

Today, especially with COVID-19 and limited in-person church attendance, there appears to be lessening emphasis on many church traditions. Virtual services continue to proliferate and many Easter activities have lost significance, as well. We went from over-commercialization of Easter, making it almost a mockery of the importance of Jesus' death and Resurrection, to a non-existent holiday of family gatherings with traditional cooking and eating. And, the Blessing of the table may be the only mention of Jesus and the gift of eternal life and salvation that day.

Back in the day, the family gatherings were important. But before that gathering, the family will have gone through the Lenten Season...reflection, sacrifice...Friday Fish Fries, the Baptisms or First Holy Communion and Confessions, where our sins are laid bare and we pray for forgiveness. And yes, there was also the shopping...the by-product after the spiritual.

We looked forward to a new frock for Easter Sunday. There was no shopping throughout the year as we do today...so Christmas, Birthday and Easter, followed by back to school clothes were the four times of the year we expected to be "dressed" special.

Remember "your Easter Part? It was as much a part of Easter Sunday as was the new shoes you wore.

There was going to be an Easter Program either the Saturday before Easter or during Sunday School and certainly before the whole family gathered for Easter Dinner. How you did, how you performed "your part" was as much a part of table conversations as was how "nice you looked." Yes, Easter was super special...Back in the Day!

As you pause to celebrate Easter this Sunday, we hope all of the traditions that make it special for you will affirm your place in your family...in your church family and in your community.

A little more remembering...reflecting...dress up and approval by family might be just the panacea we need this Easter. Remember that "HE LIVES!"

"He Lives! He Lives! Christ Jesus lives today. He walks with me and He talks with me...along life's narrow way.

He lives, He lives, salvation to impart. You ask me how I know He Lives....He lives within my heart.." HAPPY EASTER!

SCENES FROM A HISTORICAL HAPPENING!

The inauguration of MKE's First African American mayor, Cavalier Johnson!

History was made (again) Wednesday, April 13 at the Harley Davidson Museum, located on Canal Street, with the Inauguration of Mayor Cavalier Johnson.

The auditorium on the museum campus was packed with notables such as U. S. Senator Tammy Baldwin, Gov. Tony Evers, U.S. Congresswoman Gwen Moore, and Milwaukee County Executive David Crowley.

Bishop Sedgwick Daniels gave the invocation, and the mayor's son led the Pledge of Allegiance.

7.8% Of Milwaukee Workers Are Business Owners, 10th Lowest in the U.S.

Self-employed entrepreneurs account for 10% of all workers, according to 2020 data from the U.S. Census Bureau.

But whether born out of necessity or desire, an increasing number of workers are taking the plunge and starting their own businesses in the wake of the COVID-19 pandemic.

After an initial drop in new business applications in early 2020, monthly business applications soared to record levels, and the most recent data shows that applications remain significantly higher than they were a few years ago.

The recent escalation in new business formation is due to several factors.

First, as many businesses cut back operations or shut their doors completely, a wave of newly-unemployed workers opened their own businesses in response.

Additionally, a combination of business closures, supply chain problems, and changing consumer preferences created space in the market for new types of businesses to enter.

Quit rates also reached record levels in recent months, as many workers have been driven by the pandemic to reassess their careers and start something of their own.

In total, new business applications increased by nearly 25% in the first year of the pandemic, but nearly a third of all applications were concentrated in two sectors: retail trade and professional, scientific, and technical services.

Retail trade applications numbered 824,840 in 2020, or 19% of all applications.

Professional service applications numbered over half a million, roughly 12% of the total.

Recent research from the University of Maryland indicates that the increase in new business applications has been driven largely by non-employer firms—such as sole proprietors, partnerships, or limited liability companies without employees.

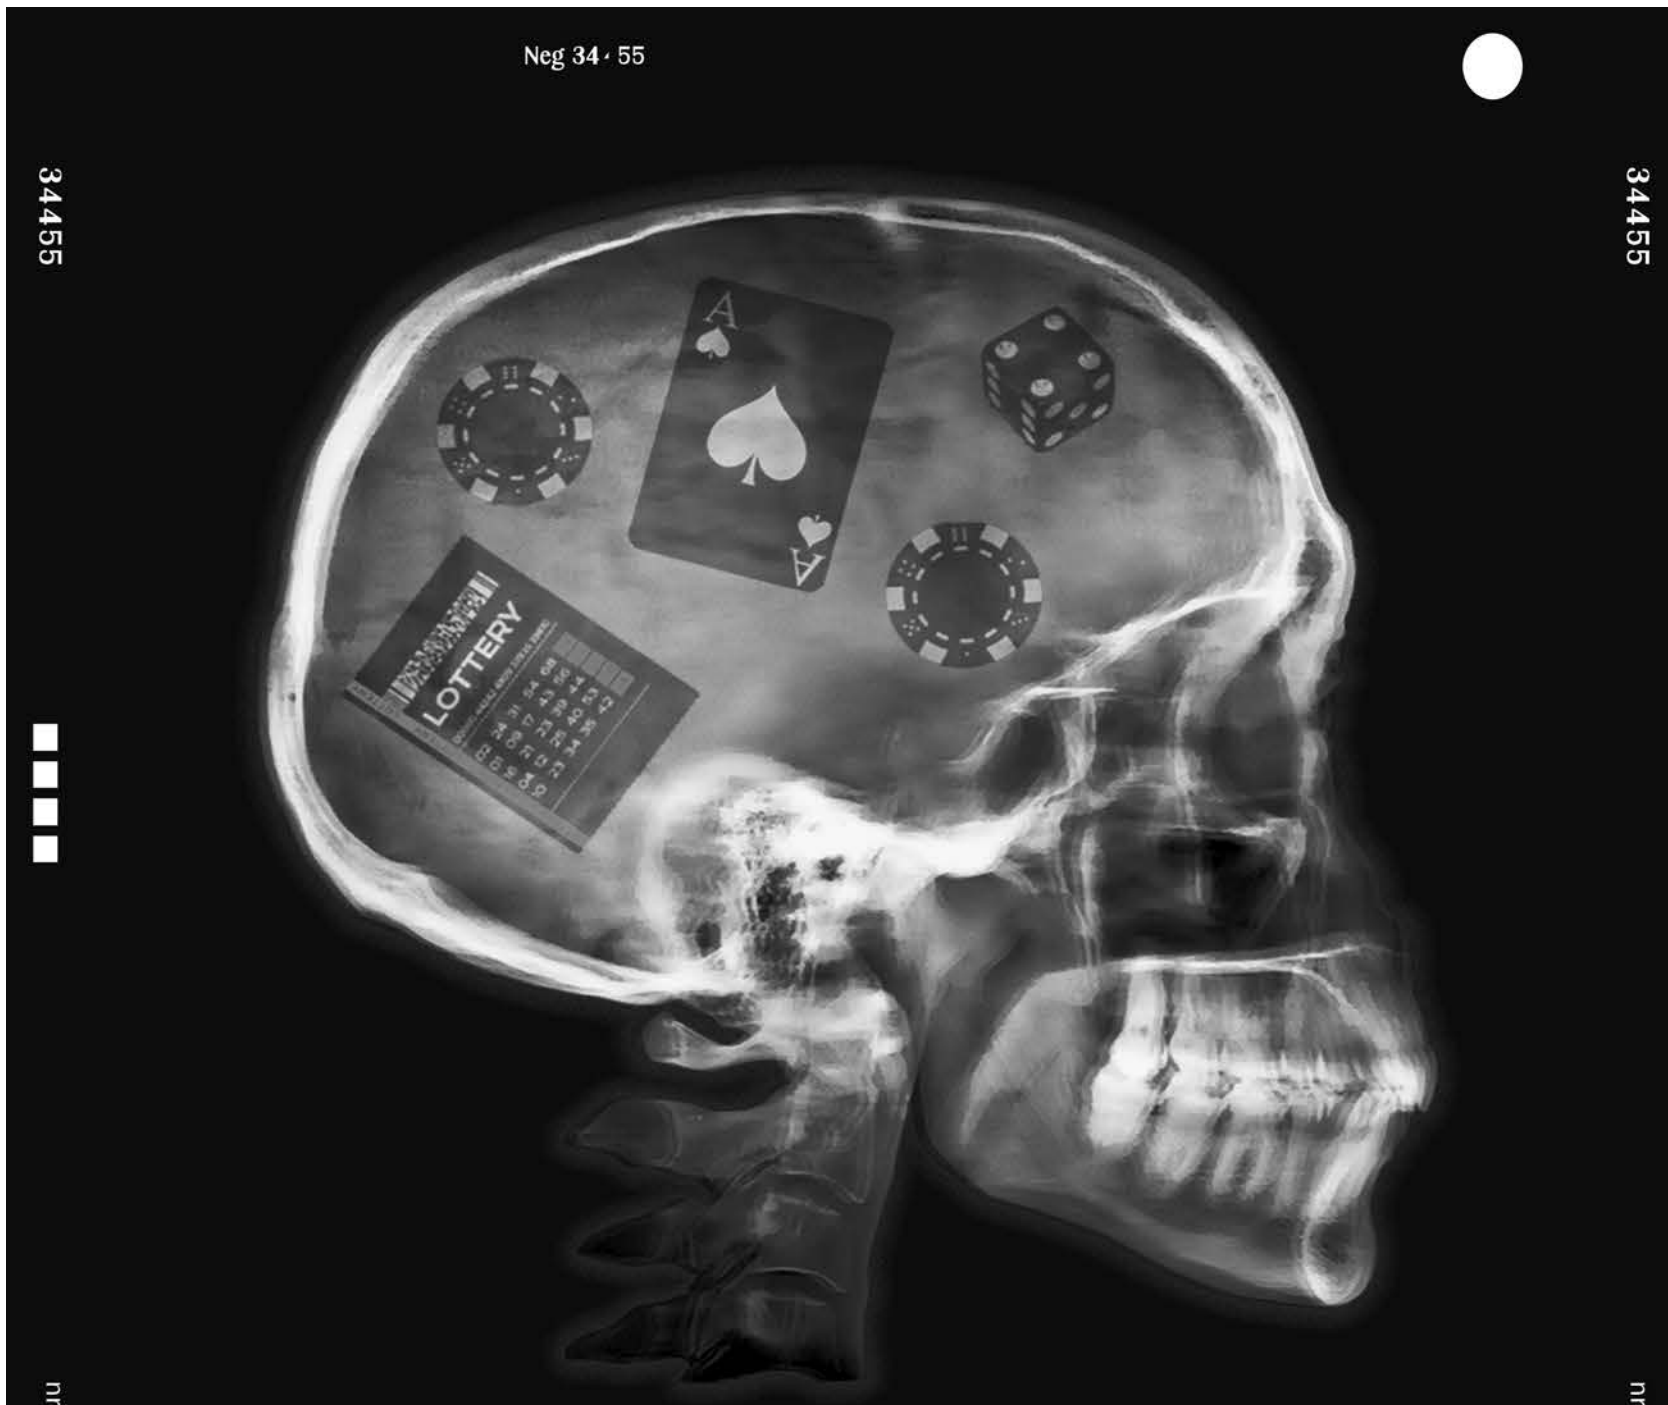

While roughly one out of 10 U.S. workers are entrepreneurs, some regions of the country have far higher concentrations.

Almost 17% of all workers in Montana and 14% of workers in Maine are self-employed in either their own incorporated or unincorporated businesses.

Other states with large concentrations of entrepreneurs include Vermont (13.0%), Florida (12.5%), and Idaho (12.4%).

On the other hand, self-employment in Rust Belt states like West Virginia, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Kentucky, and Indiana is less common.

Just 6.8% of workers in West Virginia are entrepreneurs.

To find the metropolitan areas with the most entrepreneurs, researchers at Commodity.com analyzed data from the U.S. Census Bureau.

The researchers ranked metros according to the percentage of workers who are business owners.

Researchers also calculated the total number of business owners, the total number of new business applications in 2020, median annual income for full-time business owners, and median annual income for all full-time workers.

Only the 100 most populous metro areas were included in the analysis.

The analysis found that in the Milwaukee metro area, 7.8% of the workforce are business owners—a total of 61,788 workers.

Out of the 100 most populous U.S. metros, Milwaukee has the 10th fewest business owners.

Here is a summary of the data for the Milwaukee-Waukesha-West Allis, WI metro area:

- Percentage of workers who are business owners: 7.8%
 - Total number of business owners: 61,788
 - Total number of new business applications in 2020: 21,127
 - Median annual income for full-time business owners: $52,000

“I Remember When...”

By Vivian Watson

Dear Readers,
Let’s take a trip in my ‘Time Machine’, the time 1969, the place, Milwaukee, Wisconsin. The city had a pulse all its own filled with anticipation, hope, and innocence.

Neighbors knew each other by name and through relationship, in the summer the side-walks provided a space for little girls jumping “Double Dutch” with bouncing ponytails while their voices could be heard singing Rhymes that called for “Hot Pepper” also known as a faster pace for jumping Double Dutch.

The backyards were filled with bountiful gardens and laundry lines (ropes that connected to stationary poles) for hanging fresh laundry to dry in the sunshine that bounced with the cool breeze.

When a sudden rain would appear, my grandmother would say, God is rinsing the laundry.

I remember fondly when the Home Juice truck would deliver delicious fruit juice to our home, and carefully place the bottle of juice through the small milk door next to our back door.

The Watkins Salesman was also a familiar face in the neighborhood as he would bring the flavors for making homemade cakes and pies to your front door.

I can almost smell the vanilla or lemon flavoring that would float in the kitchen from the homemade pound cakes that were so lovingly prepared by my mother and aunt.

These smells, and the sound of laughter that filled my home always made me feel safe, and happy.

These happy times always included the music of the time wafting from the car radios or the record player in our living room.

My mother would give me a weekly allowance for doing my chores, I would write a list of the records that I wanted and my mother would go to the record store and pick up my requested music.

I was always so happy to play my new records and dance to my favorite tunes.

In those days we all listened to the same radio stations and went to the same record stores to buy the latest records to play on our record players.

I have fond memories of learning the latest dances with my best friend or favorite cousin.

The Disc Jockeys of the time were celebrities in the community in addition to spinning the latest tunes on the radio, the Disc Jockeys would spin music at the neighborhood Sears Store on North and Fond Du Lac Avenue during special sales events.

The Disc Jockeys always attracted a large crowd consisting of their fans and faithful shoppers.

During these special sales this would create a festive environment in the store with a backdrop of freshly popped popcorn, peanuts, and contagious laughter.

Summer was always and is still my favorite time of the year. In the summer I was free to play with my friends to my heart’s content, after I had completed my chores.

I could play all day long with my friends, we would play Jacks, Statue Maker, Captain May I, ride our bikes, and play Hop Scotch. We would play all day long outside only breaking for lunch and dinner.

All activity would come to a screeching halt at the sound of the ringing bells of the Ice Cream Truck and the anticipation of the assortment of goodies that no child could resist and yes some adults.

My favorite treat was an Ice Cream Cone or a Fudge Bar, through my eyes it was just like magic that my mother or grandmother always had the money to fund my Ice Cream truck treat.

I remember running sometimes to the end of the block just to catch the Ice Cream truck, a sprint that was always worth the effort.

In the evenings children had to be home before the street lights came on. The adults would come out and sit on the front porches after dinner to catch a cool breeze and for conversation with the neighbors.

Play time outside would continue as long as the children played in view of the adults. I remember when because those were some of the best days filled with the innocence of a time that is now a memory that still fills my heart with joy, and warmth.

Dear Readers, I hope that you enjoyed your ride in my Time Machine, I Remember When.

PROMISE MADE PROMISE KEPT

The Democratic National Committee Congratulates The Honorable Ketanji Brown Jackson

President Biden, Vice President Harris, and Democrats are keeping their promises to the Black community because Black voices matter and they make the difference.

Our president helped get America back to work, provided funding to support families and small businesses, got kids back to school, and made historic investments in HBCUs.

And he’s creating a government that looks like us...

- ✓ He appointed more Black women judges to the U.S. Court of Appeals than any other president.
- ✓ He placed Black men at the helm of our country’s Defense Department and Environmental Protection Agency, and in senior advisor positions in the West Wing.
- ✓ And he nominated the FIRST Black female U.S. Supreme Court justice – Ketanji Brown Jackson.

Judge Jackson has exceptional credentials, impeccable character, and an unwavering dedication to the rule of law, the Constitution, and we the people. She has outstanding qualifications to sit on the Supreme Court.

Republicans disrespectfully tried to block her at every turn, and they continue to stand in the way of progress for the American people. But for Democrats, voters are valued, and a promise made is a promise kept.

Congratulations to the Honorable Ketanji Brown Jackson on her historic confirmation!
