10 Blackest Songs: What is the sound of Blackness?

Opinion By Toure'

Editor's note: The following article is an op-ed, and the views expressed are the author's own.

The idea of choosing the 10 Blackest songs is intimidating as hell. Blackness is deep, dynamic and complex. But it's Black Music Month, so we've gotta do it.

Below is my list, and in the next two weeks, my music-loving brothers Panama Jackson and Matthew Allen will come with their list of the 10 Blackest songs. But you know what it is—I'm curious to see what they'll say, but between us, this is the real list.

Yes, musicians have done a better job of articulating Blackness than artists in any other artform have, but Blackness is so deep that it cannot be summed up in one song.

Still, there are songs that are so meaningful to the Black community that they make up the playlist of who we are. There are songs that tell the story of being Black in a deep way.

There are songs that show the essence of being Black in their own way. And there are songs that are the apotheosis of a genre of Black music.

As I made this list, I looked for songs that fit those values—I asked myself 1) is it deeply meaningful to the Black community? or 2) is it telling the story of being Black in America? or 3) does it somehow show the essence of being Black? or 4) is it the zenith of a genre of Black music?

As I collated this list, I spoke to a couple of musicians to get their take and gravitated toward their advice but ultimately followed my gut—which drew me mainly to soul, funk and blues, and not to hip-hop or disco.

Perhaps this is because I believe soul, funk and blues are often in conversation with what it means to be Black in a more overt way than those later genres.

Obviously, hip-hop and disco are extraordinarily Black, and their exclusion carries with it no shade—hip-hop is my musical mother tongue—but when I hear the 10 songs below, I get chills in my Black soul, and my face crinkles up as I start to sway.

They have a control over me that goes beyond my conscious. They are, for me, the sound of Blackness. (Presented in no particular order.)

"Redemption Song," Bob Marley: This is the legendary natural mystic singing the song of Black people. He starts with us being taken from Africa and lands on the imperative for us to liberate ourselves from mental slavery.

He means destroying colonialism and white-centrism, but he's also just giving power and freedom to Black people by telling us true freedom is within our grasp. The message is powerful, and the mes-

DESPITE YEARS OF PAYMENTS, BLACK STUDENT LOAN BALANCES GO UP – NOT DOWN

Over half of federal loan debt held by borrowers with a net worth less than $6,370

By Charlene Crowell

With every passing day, urgency grows to cancel the nation's $1.7 trillion student loan debt. The current federal pause on payments and interest rates will expire on August 31.

If no federal action is taken before that date, 15 million borrowers already struggling with the unfortunate combination of unsustainable debt and little or no wealth will face a daunting challenge with no financial relief in sight.

New research zeroes in on America's student debt dilemma. It also details worsening racial wealth and gender gaps that plague people who despite years of faithful loan payments find themselves now owing more rather than less: nearly 75 percent of Black borrowers and 63 percent of Latino borrowers have seen their student loan balances grow rather than shrink, compared to 51 percent of white borrowers.

Necessary Relief: Substantial Cancellation Will Ease the Burden of Affordable Student Debt and Boost the Economy, the just-released report from the Center for Responsible Lending (CRL), augments an analysis of more than 360,000 credit records of student borrowers with a national series of focus groups and new analyses from the 2019 Survey of Consumer Finances (SCF).

The report's multiple findings are as startling as they are widespread.

Although Black America represents 12 percent of the nation's population, we hold 22 percent of all federal loan debt, affecting multiple generations – including retirees. CRL found that more than half of federal student loan debt is held by borrowers with a net worth less than $6,370.

Moreover, because Black students are more likely to enroll in for-profit academic institutions with lower degree completion rates, debt repayment is still required for an education that did not provide an earnings boost.

"Americans who work, pay taxes and tried to do the right thing have been used as cash cows to enrich unaccountable investors and corporate executives," said Jaylon Herbin, student loan outreach and policy manager at CRL. "The true victims of these abusive loan schemes deserve to have this government-imposed weight removed from their shoulders."

The worst ratios of income to debt are found in Black-majority neighborhoods, where the average student debt balance is 102 percent.

Low-income senior citizens struggling with student debt on average have a debt balance ratio of 127 percent and face a growing trend of retirement benefits garnished for lack of repayment.

The effects of historic racial wealth disparities result in Black students who pursue higher education relying more heavily on loans than family support to finance their degrees.

As a result, over half of all families with Black heads of household aged 25–40 have student debt, and 85% of Black graduates in 2016 took on debt to finance their undergraduate degree.

The report also finds that Black women today hold median student debt burdens that are two-thirds higher than that held by white men. The lingering effects of pay discrimination affecting even highly educated Black women translates into earnings of only 65 cents for every dollar earned by white males.

CRL’s report also addresses the competing proposals on student debt forgiveness.

“Cancelling $10,000 of federal student loans forgives only 22 percent of Black borrowers’ federal student loan debt and 28% of Latino debt,” states the report. “In contrast, cancelling $50,000 forgives more than 70 percent of these groups’ student loan debt.”

On May 27, a 529-member coalition of diverse interests urged President Joe Biden and Vice President Kamala Harris to exercise executive authority to forgive $50,000, an amount that would be proportional to the burden now carried.

“Black borrowers report that their student loan debt often feels like a life sentence even if they use relief programs like Income-Driven Repayment because they watch the amount owed balloon over time,” states the coalition letter. “Student debt cancellation has the potential to increase the net wealth of Black households and could even help reduce the racial wealth gap.”

“We call on you to deliver on the promise of the Biden-Harris Racial Economic Equity plan by cancelling federal student debt by executive action immediately, concluded the coalition that includes the American Association of University Women, American Civil Liberties Union, Americans for Financial Reform, International Brotherhood of Teamsters, National Action Network, NAACP, National Urban League, League of Latin American Citizens, and CRL.

Another coalition member, the National Consumer Law Center, challenged the White House in similar words.

“Cancellation should also be sufficient in amount to provide meaningful relief to all borrowers, including Black borrowers who shoulder an average of $24,000 more in student loan debt than white students four years after graduating college.”

senger is singing a timeless song.

“Trouble Man,” Marvin Gaye: Marvin is singing a sort of spiritual history of Black people—“I come up hard, but now I’m cool. Couldn’t make it sugar, playin’ by the rules.” We had to fight to make it, and we had to find creative ways to slide through the matrix, but now we’re cool, and when Marvin says, “We’re cool,” there are so many meanings that fit that word. Marvin’s one of the Blackest singers of all time—the Black male falsetto is a thing of beauty—and his performance on this record is historic. In the middle of it, he raps—in 1972. Before the first time Kool Herc brought out his set.

“Before I Let Go,” Maze featuring Frankie Beverly: It’s just the sound of joy. This song lifts me up every time. It has a special reverence among Black people because it’s the ultimate Black party jam—good for cookouts, birthdays and weddings. Questlove once told me in his journey as a

It is recommended, but not required that you have an attorney help or represent you.

If you do not demand a copy of the Petition within 40 days, the court may grant judgment against you for the award of money or other legal action requested in the Petition, and you may lose your right to object to anything that is or may be incorrect in the Petition.

A judgment may be enforced as provided by law. A judgment awarding money may become a lien against any real estate you own now or in the future and may also be enforced by garnishment or seizure of property.

You are further notified that if the parties

(2) Upon the request of a party to an action affecting the family, including a revision of judgment or order under sec.
767.59 or 767.451:

(a) The Circuit Court Commissioner shall, with or without charge, provide the party with written information on the following, as appropriate to the action commenced:

1. The procedure for obtaining a judgment or order in the action.
  2. The major issues usually addressed in such an action.
  3. Community resources and family court counseling services available to assist the parties.
  4. The procedure for setting, modifying, and enforcing child support awards, or modifying and enforcing legal custody or physical placement judgments or orders.
- (b) The Circuit Court Commissioner

DIVORCE - 40101
Case No. 22FA001200
In Re: The marriage of Petitioner: SILVIA SANCHEZ and Respondent JOSE JAVIER ANDRADE

THE STATE OF WISCONSIN, TO THE PERSON NAMED ABOVE AS RESPONDENT:
You are notified that the petitioner named above has filed a Petition for divorce or legal separation against you.

You must respond with a written demand for a copy of the Petition within 40 days from the day after the first day of publication.

The demand must be sent or delivered to the court at: Clerk of Court, Milwaukee County Courthouse 901 N 9th St Milwaukee WI 53233 and to SILVIA SANCHEZ 4454 S 14TH STREET APT 9 MILWAUKEE WI 53215

It is recommended, but not required that you have an attorney help or represent you.

If you do not demand a copy of the Petition within 40 days, the court may grant judgment against you for the award of money or other legal action requested in the Petition, and you may lose your right to object to anything that is or may be incorrect in the Petition.

A judgment may be enforced as provided by law. A judgment awarding money may become a lien against any real estate you own now or in the future and may also be enforced by garnishment or seizure of property.

You are further notified that if the parties to this action have minor children, violation of 948.31 Wis. Stats., (Interference with custody by parent or others) is punishable by fines and/or imprisonment:

If you and the petitioner have minor children, documents setting forth the percentage standard for child support established by the department under 49.22(9), Wis. Stats., and the factors that a court may consider for modification of that standard under 767.511 (1m). Wis Stats. are available upon your request from the Clerk of Court.

You are notified of the availability of information from the Circuit Court Commissioner as set forth in 767.105

Wis.Stats.
767.105 Information from Circuit Court Commissioner.

(2) Upon the request of a party to an action affecting the family, including a revision of judgment or order under sec. 767.59 or 767.451:
(a) The Circuit Court Commissioner shall, with or without charge, provide the party with written information on the following, as appropriate to the action commenced:
1. The procedure for obtaining a judgment or order in the action.
2. The major issues usually addressed in such an action.
3. Community resources and family court counseling services available to assist the parties.
4. The procedure for setting, modifying, and enforcing child support awards, or modifying and enforcing legal custody or physical placement judgments or orders.
(b) The Circuit Court Commissioner shall provide a party, for inspection or purchase, with a copy of the statutory provisions in this chapter generally pertinent to the action.
