CELEBRATING MARRIAGE LONGEVITY!

Noted community elder Tyrone Dumas and his wife, Ciel led the 'Marriage Anniversary Parade' when they recently celebrated 50 golden years together with family and friends.

The Dumas family, from left to right in the photo: Thai Watts/grandson, Ceciel Dumas/wife & grandmother, Maurice Dumas/son, Tori Parker/great granddaughter, Danielle Dumas/daughter, Camri Fifer/granddaughter, Chazz Parker/granddaughter, Tyrone P Dumas/husband & grandfather, Elena Wilson/granddaughter, Ariana Wilson/Granddaughter.

Community elder Tyrone Dumas and his wife, Ciel recently celebrated 50 years of wedded bliss by renewing their wedding vows before a host of family and friends. The couple originally exchanged vows in 1973. Rev. Dennis Harmon, pastor of Hope Lutheran Church, performed the ceremony. The couple first met at the old (and defunct) 'Upstairs/Downstairs' Club. Tyrone was the first Black commissioner for Milwaukee County Department of Public Works. The Dumas' children, Maurice and Danielle were the principal planners of the tribute to their parents, with the help of the grandchildren. Asked for the secret to their longevity, Tyrone said: "You gotta know when to hold, when to fold, and when to keep your mouth shut!" All photos by Mikel Holt. More photos inside!

OTHER COMMUNITY NOTABLES CELEBRATING MULTIPLE YEARS OF MARITAL BLISS!

Be a voice in the community: Apply for Metro-Milwaukee cancer disparities Research and Community Scholars Program

Program empowers community members and researchers to understand and improve health equity, together

The Community and Cancer Science Network (CCSN) is recruiting community program members for the 2023-24 Cancer Disparities Curriculum for Research and Community Scholars.

This program creates opportunities for members of the Metro-Milwaukee community to learn alongside Medical College of Wisconsin (MCW) researchers to increase understanding of why health disparities exist and how collaborations between community members and researchers can reduce these disparities.

Cancer disparities are differences in outcomes (e.g., incidence, diagnosis, and mortality) among groups of people.

Significant disparities occur based on where people live, their race or ethnicity, and their gender, among other factors.

Individuals from Metro-Milwaukee community-based organizations who have an interest in improving the health of community and are actively involved in their community are encouraged to apply.

“We know that mistrust and misunderstanding affect the ways in which community members and biomedical researchers interact. “We want to eliminate these misunderstandings and help community members and researchers find ways to address the complex biological and social factors that can lead to cancer disparities.”—Rev. Dr. Thomas.

Applications are available at <https://www.ccsnwi.org/scholarsprogram.html> and accepted until Aug. 25, 2023.

Together, with the guidance of program creators Rev. Dr. Deborah Thomas, retired Milwaukee Area Technical College faculty member and founder and pastor of House of Grace Kingdom Ministry and MCW’s Dr. Carol Williams, PhD, community members and researchers will learn ways to build equitable and trusting partnerships to counteract the issues of mistrust and misunderstanding contributing to cancer disparities in the Metro-Milwaukee area.

“We know that mistrust and misunderstanding affect the ways in which community members and biomedical researchers interact,” said Rev. Dr. Thomas.

“We want to eliminate these misunderstandings and help community members and researchers find ways to address the complex biological and social factors that can lead to cancer disparities.”

Both research and community scholars will participate in lessons and lectures led by experts from the Metro-Milwaukee community and MCW to create a final project.

“Our second cohort of scholars recently presented their projects, and everyone learned so much through their collaborations,” said Dr. Williams.

“We are eager to bring in even more participants and grow the important connections that are needed between community members and researchers so that we can take measurable steps to improve the health of our community.”

The program begins in September 2023 and participants will meet on a bi-weekly basis through May 2024.

The program requires participants to have access to consistent internet connection, access to a web-camera and microphone using a smart phone, tablet, or computer. Accommodations may be available if technology access is a barrier.

For more information or to apply, visit the program website or contact Alexis Krause, Program Coordinator, akrause@mcw.edu.

Greater Milwaukee Urban League Black and White Ball Co-Chairs Announced

The countdown is underway for the 38th Annual Greater Milwaukee Urban League Black and White Ball on November 4, 2023. Today, GMUL proudly announces the community co-chairs for the event, GMUL Board members Margaret Bailey-Stewart and Jim Strack. Strack is treasurer of the Board and Bailey-Stewart is Board secretary.

Bailey-Stewart is director, government and community strategy, Charter Communications (Spectrum). In her role, she connects communities to technology through digital education engagement. She also provides operational and strategic leadership to Charter locations in Illinois, Indiana, Michigan, Minnesota, Ohio, Pennsylvania, West Virginia, and Wisconsin.

“As a Milwaukee native, I’ve personally seen how integral the role of the Greater Milwaukee Urban League has been to improve the quality of life for residents in the City of Milwaukee and surrounding communities,” said Bailey-Stewart. “For nearly two decades, I have attended the sold out Black and White Ball that helps to fund programs and services available at GMUL and this year it is my honor to serve as a co-chair.”

As Vice President and General Manager of Enterprise Holdings-Wisconsin, Jim Strack oversees the three rental vehicle brands of the company – Enterprise, Alamo and National – as well as other business operations including Enterprise fleet management, truck rental, car sales, and commute services. He has worked for Enterprise Holdings for 34 years and served as corporate vice president for EHI in Germany before relocating to Wisconsin.

“The Greater Milwaukee Urban League gives me an outstanding opportunity to gain a stronger connection to the Milwaukee community,” said Strack. “GMUL provides exceptional services that serve, support, empower and change the lives of those who live in the greater Milwaukee communities it serves. I’m delighted to serve as a co-chair with my colleague and friend Margaret Bailey-Stewart.”

More information on sponsorship, tickets, and other details can be found at www.tmul.org in the Black and White Ball section.
