African American Chamber of Commerce of Wisconsin hosts annual

BREAKFAST OF CHAMPIONS!

Jeanette Mitchell honored as the AACCW's Business Champion

The African American Chamber of Commerce of Wisconsin (AACCW) hosted its 8th Breakfast of Champions recently, presented by Champion Sponsor Fiserv at the Fiserv Forum in the Deer District. More than 300 business and community leaders attended the annual recognition event, including Milwaukee Mayor Cavelier Johnson, Milwaukee County Executive David Crowley, Milwaukee County Chairwoman Marcelia Nicholson.

The theme this year was, "Full Court Press." The breakfast is AACCW's annual fundraising event aimed at bringing the greater Milwaukee community together to support its mission and to honor local business leaders who are passionate about economic development and wealth creation in the African American community.

Dr. Jeanette Mitchell, Chief Creative Officer of Leadership by Dr. Jeanette (LBDJ) has been named is the 2023 Business Champion.

Dr. Mitchell has extensive cross-sector experience in business, education, non-profit and politics, and her skills span management and diversity issues, as well as executive training and development. Currently, Dr. Mitchell's portfolio includes the African American Leadership Program (AALP), and the African American Leadership Alliance-Milwaukee (AALAM), a systemic initiative addressing the development and sustainability of Black leadership throughout Milwaukee.

"Dr. Jeanette's work has directly impacted many of the AACCW's members and stakeholders including the last two President and CEOs. Her transformational coaching has catapulted the African American community in ways that will live on for generations.

The Chamber is excited to honor Dr. Mitchell and her contributions to this organization, members, and community," said Nikki Purvis, President and CEO of the AACCW.

AACCW will recognized TrueMan McGee, owner of Funky

Fresh Spring Rolls with the 2023 Young Pioneer Award and announce the 2023 Rising Star.

Singer, Songwriter, Producer, Musician and Milwaukee native, Shonn Hinton gave the keynote address. Hinton has played stadiums worldwide performing alongside many Grammy award winning artists including Mary J Blige, John Legend, Jill Scott, Jay Z, Lil Wayne, and Patti LaBelle. Hinton is a lifelong entrepreneur that will deliver a champion building message on resilience.

The Breakfast of Champions continues to be AACCW's most successful fundraiser because of the efforts of the event chair who not only drives donor engagement but demonstrates the mission of the AACCW in their respective spheres of influence.

The Breakfast of Champions Chair for 2023 is Warren Buliox, Equity Partner of MHW Law Group. Bryant McCray of CBS58 was the Emcee.

Milwaukee

Uniting for racial justice and equity

Nominations sought to for persons to receive Spotlight Award for work against racism

It's time to recognize persons in the Milwaukee area who have been leaders or activists in making positive changes to end racism.

Rid Racism Milwaukee, an organization of citizens dedicated to improving equity and justice, offers Spotlight Awards each year to honor racial equity change agents in the Greater Milwaukee area.

Community members are invited to nominate individuals to receive the 2024 Spotlight Award through October 20, 2023.

Nominees should be people committed to advancing anti-racist attitudes and actions and may work in an organization or independently.

Spotlight recipients will each receive $200. Rid Racism Milwaukee will also make a $200 donation to a charity or Spotlight Award celebration at 1:30 p.m., Saturday, Jan. 27, 2024 at the St. Francis Parish Center, 1937 Vel Phillips Ave., Milwaukee. The recipients will be asked to share a bit of their story and dream for ending racism. Individuals nominating the selected award recipients will be asked to join the award recipient as they are honored at the Spotlight Award event.

To make a nomination, go to <https://tinyurl.com/rrmspotlight> for more information and to fill out a short nomination form. (Nomination deadline is October 20, 2023.)

City of Milwaukee Health Department Urges Residents to Get Vaccinated this Flu Season

At this time each year, as the temperature begins to drop and Milwaukee residents head indoors, influenza (flu) and other respiratory illnesses begin to rise. While it's difficult to pinpoint the exact timing of peak flu cases each year, what we do know is that the virus typically circulates heavily in fall and winter months. To protect yourself and your family against the flu, the City of Milwaukee Health Department strongly encourages everyone six months and older to get their flu vaccine this fall.

During the 2022/2023 flu season, 38% of Milwaukee County residents received their flu shot. The immunization goal, set by the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services' Healthy People 2023 initiative, is to increase the flu vaccination rate to 70% nationwide. To reach this goal, the City of Milwaukee Health Department provides residents with free flu shots, available without an appointment or proof of insurance, at the Northwest Health Center (7630 W. Mill Road), and Southside Health Center (1639 S. 23rd Street).

Additionally, starting this Saturday, October 7, the City of Milwaukee Health Department will hold COVID-19 and flu vaccine drive-thru clinics at the Southside Health Center and Northwest Health Center. The flu shot will be free and available to everyone 6 months and older, however, the 2023/2024 COVID-19 vaccine is only available to eligible individuals, including children (18 and younger) with BadgerCare/Medicaid or uninsured, and adults (19 and older) who are uninsured. Children with private insurance and adults with private or public insurance are able to access COVID-19 vaccines through pharmacies and healthcare providers.

The drive-thru clinics will be open every Saturday during October from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. The full schedule is available at milwaukee.gov/Covid-Vax.

"In many cases, catching the flu can wipe out your energy levels, leaving you feeling drained, achy, and uncomfortable. It can also interfere with work, school, and time with friends and family. But for others, it can be very serious and potentially fatal," said Milwaukee Health Commissioner Mike Totoraitis. "Getting your annual flu shot is the best way to stay healthy and protect yourself and those around you."

Prevention is key to protecting ourselves against the flu this season. Recent studies show that getting vaccinated reduces the risk of flu illness by 40-60% among the overall population. While some people who get a flu vaccine still get sick, vaccination can make their illness less severe, reducing overall hospitalization rates and intensive care unit (ICU) admissions during hospitalizations.

The flu vaccine not only keeps you healthy, but it protects those around you, which is especially important for people at higher risk for serious complications, including:

nonprofit designated by the winners in their honor. This matching amount was generously donated by a Rid Racism supporter.

Awards will be presented at the 2nd Annual Rid Racism Milwaukee

- Young children
- People 65 years and older, especially those living in group settings
- People with certain medical conditions, such as asthma or heart disease

In addition to getting the flu vaccine, it's important to keep yourself, your family, and others around you healthy by taking a few steps:

- Regularly cover your coughs and sneezes.
- Wash your hands often.
- Avoid touching your eyes, nose, and mouth.
- Clean surfaces that may be contaminated with flu viruses.

These everyday actions can help reduce your chances of getting sick and prevent the spread of germs to others if you are sick.

While flu and COVID-19 are both contagious respiratory illnesses, they are caused by two different viruses and require two different vaccines. Flu and COVID-19 vaccines are recommended for everyone 6 months and older. Both vaccines are safe, effective, and able to be administered at the same time. Save time by getting the flu shot and the 2023/2024 COVID-19 vaccine together.

In addition to the Milwaukee Health Department Clinics, many other pharmacies, healthcare providers, and local health departments also have flu shots and COVID-19 vaccines. Visit vaccines.gov, HealthyMKE.com, or contact your local health department to find an immunization clinic near you.

Is your name unusual or hard to pronounce? Resist the urge to change it. Here's why.

By Emil Rem

Originally from Tanzania, I was given the name Emil Kassamali Salehmohamed Remtulla at birth. When I emigrated to Canada in my 20s, I shortened my last name to conform.

Although this change made my name easier for people to pronounce, in shortening it, I lost an important part of my identity and heritage.

In the small Muslim town where I was born, everyone in my community could identify who my family was because my middle names were those of my father and grandfather. Remtullah, an Arabic name, means Grace of God (Rhemet-Allah).

Yet the shortened version evokes little more than the acronym REM (Rapid Eye Movement).

My first name, Emil, was given to me to remember a German who had saved my father from drowning when he was a child. No one knew how to pronounce the name.

Instead, they called me Milo (Meelo instead of Mylo) from Gerber's powdered baby formula, and my resemblance to the face displayed on its tins. Luckily, I decided to keep the name Emil.

My father also changed his name — not once, but twice. At birth he was called Kassamali Salehmohamed Remtulla, in accordance with tradition.

During his mischievous school days, when he became a cricket hero within the community, he was nicknamed Kassare (KASSamali SALEhmohamed REMtulla), which became his name from then on.

Eventually he moved to Calgary and changed his beloved Kassare to Remy. To honor him, I purchased the license plate KASSARE. Even in Calgary, Canada — a universe away from Africa — elderly East Indians from Tanzania would stop me and ask after my car's namesake.

Looking back, I wish we had resisted the urge to adapt and westernize by changing and shortening our given names. So much history, culture, tradition and identity is packed into each of their syllables. A Tanzanian village. Ismaili muslim customs and beliefs. A near-fatal childhood accident. And the Grace of God.

To all those considering a name change, I suggest:

Consider why your name was chosen for you in the first place.

Names are not random selections. They often carry the weight of generations of tradition, family history, and cultural pride. They can represent stories of perseverance, love, hardships overcome, and more.

Look for instance at the story of my first name, Emil, having been given to me to honor a German man who had saved my father from drowning as a child. Every time someone calls me by my name,

I am reminded of this heroic act. Changing my name would be like erasing a chapter from my family's history book.

If your name has a story with meaning to you, think about what would you lose by taking that away.

What history and traditions — family or cultural — does your name reflect?

In certain cultures, names are handed down through generations, acting as a link to ancestors and a bridge to the future. They can signify certain rites of passage, familial roles, or historic events. My original last name, Remtullah, encapsulated a beautiful message — the Grace of God. Altering it changed not just how it sounded, but also the deep-rooted spiritual and cultural significance it held.

How would you feel about removing any such symbolism that your name carries?

Ask yourself what, aside from cultural blending, you stand gain from changing your name?

Will you find it easier to integrate socially? Will you encounter fewer mispronunciations when speaking with strangers? Or is there something else? Sometimes, the allure of fitting in can make the decision seem straightforward.

But what is the true cost? When I emigrated, I felt the pressure to "blend in", to make things easier for others at the expense of my own identity.

It's essential to evaluate whether the perceived benefits of a name change truly outweigh the loss of the unique essence and stories your original name holds.

Think about the rich experiences and exchanges that sharing your name with strangers can bring.

Names have the power to start conversations and forge connections. Sharing a unique or culturally significant name often prompts questions, allowing you to share stories, educate others, and deepen mutual understanding. In my case, my license plate, "KASSARE", sparked curiosity, allowing me to reminisce about my father's legacy and connect with others from Tanzania, even in a distant land like Canada. Our names can be bridges that connect diverse cultures, fostering respect and understanding.

Embracing our authentic names can be a powerful statement, not only for our sense of identity but also for future generations who will carry these names and the rich histories they encompass.

It's not just about personal pride; it's about preserving and cherishing the beautiful tapestry of cultures that make up our global community — and being authentic ourselves.

Today, I'm proud to say that my younger son has switched back to the last name Remtullah.

And fortunately, more people now, including immigrants, are sticking to their original names than when I first came to North America decades ago.

Locals who might struggle to pronounce an unfamiliar name also have become more open to learning how.

Still, there's a lot of progress yet to be made. Be part of it!

ABOUT Emil Rem...

Emil Rem is a creative non-fiction writer, an eccentric accountant and an advocate for overcoming the odds. An Ismaili Muslim originally from Tanzania, he has faced—and overcome—daunting circumstances all his life, from being raised in foster care in England to emigrating to Canada as a young adult. He is the author of Heart of New York and Chasing Aphrodite and has more books in the works.

His mission in sharing his stories is to instill hope and inspire people to choose action, resilience, hope and determination for overcoming even the tallest of odds, undaunted.

THE ANTE TOKOUNMPO BROTHERS OPEN FIRST UNITED STATES RETAIL STORE IN THE TRADE HOTEL

After Much Anticipation, AntetokounBros, the Branded Apparel Store Owned by Giannis Antetokounmpo and His Brothers, will open its Doors to Deer District and Visitors to The Trade

The Trade Hotel, in partnership with AntetokounBros, the company owned by Bucks forward Giannis Antetokounmpo and his brothers, Thanasis, Kostas and Alex, will celebrate the opening of its new retail space.

After announcing the partnership in June this year, excitement for this store has grown exponentially as the NBA season begins.

From 1-8 p.m. on Oct. 7, the store will be hosting a Grand Opening event open to Bucks fans and visitors to The Trade alike.

Featuring an Antetokounmpo Brothers autograph signing at 6 p.m., the opening will celebrate the connection between AntetokounBros and the City of Milwaukee.

"This partnership is fundamental to what we're trying to build here in Deer District," said Andy Inman, NCG Hospitality's Chief Development Officer, "Working with the AntetokounBros team to develop their first store in the great city of Milwaukee will attract basketball fans to Deer District and offer a unique shopping experience for Milwaukeeans.

The AntetokounBros brand story is a perfect complement to the story of the Trade Hotel and our goal to build connections throughout Deer District."

Occupying 1,400 square feet of The Trade's first floor, AntetokounBros will feature The Trade's signature industrial design elements in combination with audio-visual displays to enhance customers' high-energy shopping experience.

As the second AntetokounBros store to open its doors and the first in the United States, the location in The Trade will offer apparel, accessories, gifts and other exclusive items.

As Deer District's premier hotel, The Trade is honored to partner with the AntetokounBros team.

Thanasis Antetokounmpo said, "This is a great opportunity to connect with our fans in Milwaukee and welcome them into the family. We are all bros!"

Speaking on behalf of Ante, Inc., President and CEO Dylan Wondra added, "This is an excellent opportunity for our team.

Opening our first U.S.-based store right in the heart of Deer District is incredibly fitting as Milwaukee is not only home to the Bucks but is a second home to Giannis and family.

We're deeply thankful for the opportunity to share our products and passion alongside The Trade team."

Robert DeNiro and Leonardo DiCaprio in Killers Of The Flower in Moon

KILLERS OF THE FLOWER MOON

By Dwight Brown film critic for DwightBrownInk.com and NNPA News Wire

Why in the 21st century is anyone making a film about the Native American experience from a white man's perspective? What is there to gain? Just great artistry that overshadows indigenous people.

Author David Grann based his novel Killers of the Flower Moon on information he gathered from FBI reports and archival materials. His mix of fact and fiction centers around the Osage "Reign of Terror" in early 1920s Oklahoma.

A tragedy that happened around the time of the Tulsa race massacre of 1921, when white racists, envious of Black wealth, terrorized and burned down neighborhoods.

Similarly, Osage tribe members have become rich from the oil on their lands. Thirty million dollars ($400M in today's money) comes their way, making them the wealthiest people per capita in the world.

The mineral rights to their reservation are put in a federally managed trust, they receive royalties doled out by guardians. White men pray on them, marrying their women for their wealth. Scoundrels to the left. Scoundrels to the right.

The gold digging is heinous, the charlatans devious. Even worse, some truly sociopathic types marry and murder tribal members for financial gain. This is that story.

Not largely told from the standpoint of the Native American themselves, but from that of the perpetrators.

The novel highlighted the government's investigation. Now this film veers away from the Osage too, making them supporting characters in their own story.

A long-winded initial scene sets up the film's two main characters. Ernest Burkhart (Leonardo DiCaprio) is poor as a church mouse when he reconnects with this uncle, William "King" Hale (Robert DeNiro). That rich cattle rancher is a local kingpin in the town of Fairfax, in the county of Osage, Oklahoma.

Ernest becomes a car service driver to make money and one day he picks up a beautiful and rich Native American woman, Mollie (Lily Gladstone, Fancy Dance).

The two flirt. She's cautious at first. Pity she wasn't more vigilant, because when she opens the door to the henhouse, the fox comes in for the kill. Mollie: "Coyote likes money."

Members of the Osage tribe are being murdered in mysterious and sometimes brutal ways. Tribunals gather and assess the problems. Says Paul Red Eagle (Everett Walker): "When this money start comin,' we shoulda known it came with something else."

Local law enforcement is inept, only carrying the bodies away. Mollie's family members start to meet the same fate, and she's nervous for the ones that are still alive.

She should be, the killers lurk close. King acts concerned and pretends to be a friend of the Osage people.

He knows more than he's saying. There's no blood on his hands. Hard to trace anything back to him. When will people get wise?

Rarely in a good murder mystery does the storyline peg the killers right from the jump. This adaptation, written by Eric Roth (Dune) and director Martin Scorsese, does.

Viewers watch the scheming and slayings from the eyes of the culprits. Yes, there are scenes with Mollie and other Osage members showing their concern, going to the authorities for help and even to Washington DC.

But too much of what's on view does not involve them, the protagonists, solving their own problem, which is a standard rule in good screenwriting. This is a du-

Bureau of Investigation (BOI) Agent Tom White (Jesse Plemons, The Power of the Dog) is sent by J. Edgar Hoover on what will be the bureau's first major homicide investigation.

Tom: "I was, uh, sent down from Washington D.C., to see about these murders." Ernest: "See what about 'em." Tom: "See who's doin' it."

Within the confines of the script's follow-the-devils structure, Scorsese proves that he is still a master storyteller—in the epic feature film format.

Though, many viewers, whose butts will grow numb from sitting for 3h 26 m, may wish his expertise was with mini-series or series, more appropriate formats. Regardless, the visuals are stunning.

The director and cinematographer Rodrigo Prieto (The Irishman) are artists. The angles, composition, interior and exterior lighting, and saturated colors are bious creative choice at best. A gamble.

As audiences watch the gruesome killings they'll wonder, when will this stop? When will the Osagers grab a gun and kill the perpetrators who decimate their people?

Will they have satisfaction? Watching killing after killing becomes repulsive then macabre. Finally, when the calvary shows up, it's the white saviors.

visually stunning.

Scorsese is particularly adept at the movement within crowd scenes, from the extras to the leads.

He gives the entire cast, top to bottom, room to emote, exchange thoughts and express feelings from fear to rage.

The technical aspects fluctuate down and up. Jack Fisk's (The Revenant) production design is

ABOUT MILWAUKEE COMMUNITY JOURNAL (MCJ) WEEKEND EDITION

The Milwaukee Community Journal Weekend Edition is published weekly. Each week, MCJ Weekend focuses on different subjects, HEALTH, PERSONAL, FINANCE, FAMILY, MEN, AND WOMEN. THE WEEKEND EDITION now includes the publishing of records designated by the Milwaukee County Circuit Court for publication of legal notices, with added value in the Wednesday Edition. The Weekend Edition is a public newspaper of general circulation that complies with the laws of Wisconsin relating to publication of legal notices. MCJ Weekend Edition has published weekly over ten years, in the State of Wisconsin and Milwaukee County. We have a paid circulation of approximately 89% of our circulation, weekly. And our actual paid subscribers are over the 1000 required by State Statute.

ABOUT THE MILWAUKEE COMMUNITY JOURNAL (MCJ)

The Milwaukee Community Journal (MCJ) is a quality news organization published throughout Milwaukee and the surrounding suburbs. Established in 1976, the Milwaukee Community Journal has advanced the plight, struggles and victories of minorities in Wisconsin, with a passion for building community. The MCJ accentuates the positive, analyzes the negatives and advocates to seed success. The Milwaukee Community Journal stockholders are Patricia O'Flynn Pattillo (90%); Mikel Holt (5%); and Todd Thomas (5%) respectively, and is current in filing by the State of Wisconsin, effective October 10, 2018.

In Re: The marriage of Petitioner:
EDLYN SMALL and O.Z. BANKS
(AKA OZ BALDWIN)

THE STATE OF WISCONSIN, TO THE PERSON NAMED ABOVE AS RE-SPONDENT:
You are notified that the petitioner named above has filed a Petition for divorce or legal separation against you.

You must respond with a written demand for a copy of the Petition within 40 days from the day after the first day of publication.

The demand must be sent or delivered to the court at: Clerk of Court, Milwaukee County Courthouse 901 N 9th St Milwaukee WI 53233 and to EDLYN
SMALL 3160 N 58th St Milwaukee WI
53216

It is recommended, but not required that you have an attorney help or represent you.

If you do not demand a copy of the Petition within 45 days, the court may grant judgment against you for the award of money or other legal action requested in the Petition, and you may lose your right to object to anything that is or may be incorrect in the Petition.

A judgment may be enforced as provided by law. A judgment awarding money may become a lien against any real estate you own now or in the future and may also be enforced by garnishment or seizure of property.

You are further notified that if the parties to this action have minor children, violation of 948.31 Wis. Stats., (Interference with custody by parent or others) is punishable by fines and/or imprisonment:

If you and the petitioner have minor children, documents setting forth the percentage standard for child support established by the department under 49.22(9), Wis. Stats., and the factors that a court may consider for modification of that standard under 767.511 (1m). Wis Stats. are available upon your request from the Clerk of Court.

You are notified of the availability of information from the Circuit Court Commissioner as set forth in 767.105 Wis.
Stats.

767.105 Information from Circuit Court Commissioner.

(2) Upon the request of a party to an action affecting the family, including a revision of judgment or order under sec.
767.59 or 767.451:

(a) The Circuit Court Commissioner shall, with or without charge, provide the party with written information on the following, as appropriate to the action commenced:

1. The procedure for obtaining a judgment or order in the action.
2. The major issues usually addressed in such an action.
3. Community resources and family court counseling services available to assist the parties.
4. The procedure for setting, modifying, and enforcing child support awards, or modifying and enforcing legal custody or physical placement judgments or orders.
- (b) The Circuit Court Commissioner shall provide a party, for inspection or purchase, with a copy of the statutory provisions in this chapter generally pertinent to the action.

Lily Gladstone in Killers Of The Flower Moon

too perfect. Jacqueline West’s (The Revenant)) costumes should have been rougher around the edges.

Editor Thelma Schoonmaker (The Irishman) needed a heavier hand and should have cut 20 minutes from the footage—or more. On the other hand, Robbie Robertson’s (The Irishman) musical soundtrack is incredibly atmospheric. His music alternates between a funky, drum-heavy Native American beat, chants and evocative songscaapes. To hear more of his indigenous-themed music, listen to Robertson’s groundbreaking 1994 album Music for Native Americans, which drew from his Mohawk heritage. Any film that pairs DeNiro and DiCaprio is a gem. DeNiro shines and sneers well, but sometimes it feels like he’s interjecting 21st century urban sensibilities into the King character. DiCaprio is invisible, deep inside the increasingly culpable and murderous Ernest. As he walks through a crowd on Fairfax’s main dirt road the actor grabs the camera’s attention. The way he walks, wears his cowboy hat, makes facial expressions and his mannerisms steals the scenes from the hundreds of extras. He’s totally believable as a 1920s man and as earthy as any Steinbeck character. He’s magnetic. Gladstone’s presence is felt even in the scenes she isn’t in. Her Mollie is the sane voice among the debauchery and criminal conspiracy. A low-key, strong-willed woman destined to find help when no one else can. Pity her character is rendered so helpless for so long. Pity when she finally confronts the person who’s tortured her there’s no anger. No slap. No wishing him dead for what he’s done. It makes you wonder if a woman, specifically a Native American one, had written the script would she have allowed Mollie, or the Osage Nation members, to look so passive? If you’re looking for a good glimpse into the world of Native Americans, from their perspective, check out Lakota Nation vs United States, an enlightening documentary that’s streaming on Prime Video and Apple TV+. Watching Killers of the Flower Moon to learn anything about the viewpoints of Native Americans may be a frustrating experience. Watching the movie for its magnificent artistry may not. It’s an opulent, indulgent crime/drama/history film made from bits of facts and padded with fiction. Nothing more.

ALPHA KAPPA ALPHA SORORITY, INCORPORATED® CENTRAL REGION CHAPTERS AWARD NEARLY $600K IN STUDENT SCHOLARSHIPS

The scholarships represent the sorority’s ongoing commitment to support the educational needs of students and families within Central Region’s eight state communities.

Nearly 400 new and returning college students who reside within the Central Region of Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority, Incorporated® have received scholarships totaling $578,357 from local graduate chapters. The sorority’s Wisconsin chapters in Milwaukee and Madison collectively awarded

Kiahna W. Davis

The scholarships awarded for the upcoming school year will encourage life-long learning and provide financial assistance to college bound students.

“The founding members of Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority recognized the importance of education, especially during a time within our nation’s history where racial and economic factors limited academic opportunities,” said Kiahna W. Davis, Alpha Kappa Alpha’s 31st Central Regional Director.

“More than 115 years later, rising tuition costs continue to be a barrier for some students. We hope the scholarships awarded throughout Central Region will lessen the financial burden for the recipients and their families.” Central region chapter scholarships are funded through individual Alpha Kappa Alpha member donations, various fundraisers held throughout the year, and donations from local companies and corporate foundations. The total amount awarded by chapters this year has ranged from $1,000 to upwards of $50,000. The newly established Kiahna W. Davis Endowment which is named for the current Central Regional Director and managed by the Alpha Kappa Alpha Educational Advancement Foundation, is currently accepting donations to provide future scholarships for Central Region students, fellowships and funds for community initiatives supported by the organization. Tax free contributions to the Kiahna W. Davis Endowment can be made by visiting donate.akaef.org. When the site opens, go to the “Giving Search” box, and enter “Kiahna W. Davis “. The Central Region is one of 10 area regions designated for Alpha Kappa Alpha Chapters. It comprises the following states: Illinois, Indiana, Kentucky, Wisconsin, Minnesota, North Dakota, South Dakota, and the southeastern portion of Missouri.

$28,000 in scholarships. Alpha Kappa Alpha, founded in 1908 on the campus of Howard University in Washington, D.C., is the nation’s first and oldest Greek letter organization established by African American college educated women.
